Opposition Asks Teeth to Fight Drunk Driving

Harsher Criminal Code Laws Sought to Minimize Menace

OTTAWA, May 29 (CP).—The Government was urged in the Commons tonight by John Diefenbaker (P.C., Lake Centre) to strengthen Criminal Code provisions against drunk driving.

Joining debate on second reading of Criminal Code amendments, he reported that 600 or more persons are killed each year on Canadian highways by drunken drivers.

This country regarded murder as a "terrible crime," yet drunken drivers killed five times as many persons as did murderers.

The minimum sentence for drunken driving was seven days and many of those accused were acquitted because it was difficult for the Crown to establish their guilt.

REVIEW TESTS

Mr. Diefenbaker reviewed tests made of suspected drunken drivers in other countries and suggested that if Justice Minister Garson, piloting the legislation, thought the blood test was too drastic he should at least inaugurate the breath test.

At present, those tests would not be admissible as evidence in a Canadian court.

Today, the law could be "evaded and circumvented" because it was inadequate. No matter how a person "smelled of liquor," there were "so many loopholes in the law that he could escape conviction. Those loopholes had been put there by Parliament.

Generally, those convicted received the minimum sentence of seven days and got their car back a few days later.

Love Comics Under Fire By I.O.D.E.

MONTREAL, May 29 (CP).—The Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire decided today to send a letter to Prime Minister St Laurent urging strengthening of the Crime Comics Act to include sex and love comics.

More than 1,000 delegates from many parts of Canada are meeting here in the I.O.D.E.'s golden jubilee convention.

Discussion of the comics question was led by Mrs. J. D. Detwiler of London, Ont., national educational secretary.

Target of the order since 1946, crime comics now come under the Fulton bill but Mrs. Detwiler said that objectionable sex and love magazines can be found in profusion in Canada, replacing banned comic books.

Girl Nine, Critically Hurt In Head Street Accident

Nine-year-old Darlene Sims, 626 Bryden Court, is in critical condition in Royal Jubilee Hospital with injuries received in a collision with a car on Head Street at 6 p.m. yesterday.

The child is suffering from severe head injuries. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Sims.

Esquimalt Police Chief Gilbert Stancombe last night issued an appeal for any witnesses to report to the police department.

Constable Fred Buxton, who is investigating the accident, said the car was being driven north on Head Street by Mrs. Patricia D. Forbes, 475 Head Street.

The youngster is believed to have run across the street from east to west from a yard where she had been playing with other children. It is thought she was running home.

The right front of the Forbes car was in collision with the Sims child. Police did not think the car passed over any part of her body.

The accident occurred opposite 654 Head Street which is near Bryden Court. Sgt. James Smart conveyed the injured girl to hospital.

New Lever Provided

Provosts Given Power To Arrest on Suspicion

OTTAWA, May 29 (CP).—The Commons defence committee, against spirited opposition, today gave the military policeman a new legal lever in his perennial war against armed forces crime.

It approved this controversial new clause in the bill to consolidate and modernize defence legislation in one Act:

"Every person who has committed, is found committing, is suspected of being about to commit or is suspected of or charged under this Act with having committed a service offence may be placed under arrest."

Opposition members called it a "throwback," an opening to "grudge" detentions by provost men and an unwarranted extension of provost powers to allow them to arrest men "suspected of being about to commit" a crime.

They were told the clause, largely copied from the Criminal Code, is necessary and actually in the interest of the serviceman himself.

The committee, starting a new week of its long march through the bill, also

1. Struck a snag over navy opposition to accepting complete uniformity of the law under services unification. This time it involved differences in the summary trial powers of commanding officers in the navy as contrasted to the army and air force. The committee, as in another similar case, suspended judgment.

SYSTEM EXTENDED

2. Was told that a system of establishing standing courts-martial for the home army in the recent war is being extended to all three forces. It will mean that one or more officers who do nothing else will travel about the country hearing military cases, much as do civilian magistrates on circuit.

3. Heard Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, V.C. (P.C., Nanaimo), say it's about time army and air force unit commanding officers could punish junior officers to stop them "ruining their careers." He applauded a naval law which allows it C.O.'s to punish midshipmen and acting sub-lieutenants and said it should be extended. In the old days, he lamented, "you could use the swagger stick."

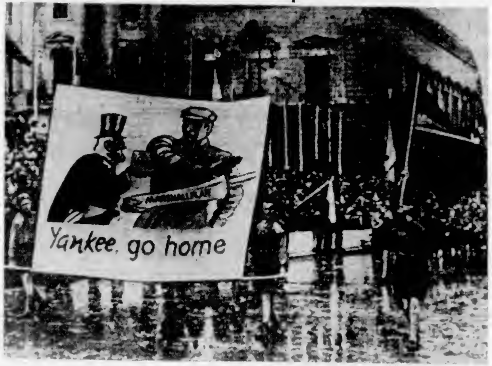
Berlin's Communist Youth Spurn "Uncle Sam"



AP Wirephoto by Radio from Berlin

Rain-sodden East German youths are pictured bearing a poster typical of those in the parade as the blue-shirted youngsters marched along Berlin's Unter Den Linden yesterday in the long-prepared Whitsuntide rally. The German capital's biggest Communist show since the war proceeded without incident under the watchful eyes of West German police and Allied troops.

Independent Advice On Floor Suggested

An opinion should be obtained from an independent engineer before the city decides to go to the expense of forcing the arena floor issue into the courts, Walter Luney of Luney Bros. & Hamilton, declared yesterday.

"I feel I'm quite safe," he stated. "I think the city would be very, very foolish to go to all the expense of a lawsuit when they can get the opinion of another engineer."

He recalled that council last year had called in a firm of outside engineers from Seattle when a dispute arose between C. T. Hamilton, arena consulting engineer, and the arena roof contractors, Bennett & White Construction Co.

The Seattle engineers found that "an honest mistake in judgment" on the part of the consulting engineer was partly responsible for the roof troubles which brought headaches to arena officials last year.

Meanwhile, Alderman Frank Mulliner, chairman of the arena committee, advised that City Council may deal with the arena floor issue at the conclusion of a special meeting called for Wednesday afternoon to consider transfer of Elk Lake property to Saanich.

He indicated there was a possibility of the "showdown" between Mr. Hamilton and the contractors going to the courts. If council decides to back the consulting engineer it will have to take the contractors to court, he said.

Alderman Mulliner said the arena committee would expect an answer from Mr. Hamilton as to why he did not advise Luney Bros. & Hamilton of what steps he would require them to take to repair the arena floor.

The consulting engineer did advise City Solicitor A. J. Patton by letter yesterday that he wanted all cement taken off the arena floor down to a quarter of an inch above refrigeration pipes and fresh material put over it.

Mr Luney said that since he had not been advised of what was required he could take no action at present.

Council ordered repair work to start yesterday.

Alderman Mulliner stated Luney Bros. & Hamilton posted a $15,000 bond last Autumn agreeing to complete the floor according to specifications.

The contract held by the contractors states that they take no responsibility for frost damage to the floor.

It is the contention of the contractors that frost has damaged the floor.

Colonist, CJVI to Provide Fast Plebiscite Coverage

THE Colonist and Radio Station CJVI will co-operate to provide fast, up-to-the-minute coverage of today's beer-parlor plebiscite voting. One hundred polls throughout the city will be open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. First results will be broadcast about 8:30 p.m., and flashes will be given frequently throughout the evening from the returning offices.

Complete results will be carried in tomorrow's Colonist.

An estimated 15,000 voters will cast their ballots on the question: "Do you approve of the sale of beer by the glass in licensed premises under Government control and regulation?"

Movement of Evacuees Back to Homes Quickens as Red River Drops Rapidly

WINNIPEG, May 29 (CP).—"Devacuation" was in full flood today in Greater Winnipeg.

The tempo in the movement of returning evacuees quickened as flood-hit Winnipeg and St. Boniface made great strides in their back-to-normal drive.

The Red River was dropping rapidly to a "safe" level and civilian authorities began to take back their powers—many had been surrendered voluntarily to the military—at noon. It was expected the transfer of command would be all but completed Wednesday.

MUD APPEARING

Fish were seen jumping in flood waters at the foot of a West Kildonan street and Greater Winnipeg's 30-mile diking system still restrained a Red River impossible to predict. But great stretches of dry, cracked mud appeared in spots that were five feet under water a fortnight ago.

The river's level at 7 p.m., C.D.T., was 26.2 feet, down 4.1 feet since the crest May 19 of 30.3. That the level was more than a foot above that of 1948, the year of the Red's last serious flood, was virtually ignored by Winnipeggers convinced that the flood of 1950 was all but over.

At the height of the inundation, 600 square miles of Southern Manitoba from the international border to Winnipeg were under water. Eighty-thousand persons were forced from their homes. Some 100,000 voluntarily left Greater Winnipeg at army urging when a major disaster appeared about to hit the area. That would have come with the failure of essential services such as power.

Among the hundreds of men, women and children returning to the two cities during the week-end from points as distant as Vancouver and Halifax were some who had been evacuated from hospitals. More are expected tomorrow as all but two of Winnipeg's hospitals—water-surrounded King Edward and King George—now are in normal operation.

$100,000,000 COST

While official estimates of Manitoba's total losses still are awaited—guesses have ranged to more than $100,000,000—four municipalities on Winnipeg's outskirts today toted up damage claims of $12,000,000. They were St. Vital, East Kildonan, West Kildonan and Fort Garry.

Winnipeg school children, most of whom have been on vacation since mid-May with almost all city schools closed, received bad news today. School authorities announced that elementary and junior high schools will begin Autumn classes August 14. Senior high school students start work on September 5. Some 20,000 Manitoba children had their school work interrupted by the flood.

Whether Greater Winnipeg will build permanent dikes in the event of further floods in the future has not yet been decided but a start was made today to stockpile materials. Rock and gravel taken from an emergency road near the Rover Avenue power stations will be stored for future use.

RAIN DRENCHES AREA

Tonight, a brief, fierce rainstorm deluged the Red River valley with .34 inch of rain, the weather office announced.

The weatherman said the rain, which lasted about an hour, was general through most of the valley and Greater Winnipeg. But he said the ground, fast-drying after the worst flood in a century, would quickly absorb the moisture.

A few scattered showers were expected for tomorrow.

Screams Start Saanich Police On Gorge Hunt

Reports of a man screaming for help from the Gorge waterways late last night started Saanich police on an all-night search.

Donald Miller, proprietor of the Gorge Boat House 365 Gorge West, told Sgt. Jack Hamilton, Saanich police, he had heard a man cry for help.

Sgt. Hamilton said he was aware of a man who fished daily in the waterways. His dugout was found on the banks of the Gorge.

Saanich Police Constables Robert Coleman and William Green aided in the search. They had the use of a power boat. Police will search the waters again at daybreak.

Injured Boy Still in Coma

Twelve-year-old Alan Barber, a visitor from Oxbridge, Ont., injured in a fall Sunday, was still unconscious late last night, according to Royal Jubilee Hospital officials.

The boy suffered a fractured skull when he fell from a cliff behind Six Mile House on the Island Highway.

He had been staying at a nearby auto court. It is believed the youngster was playing on the cliff when a section gave way. Alan tumbled 60 feet.

Mountie Becomes World's First Man To Sail Right Around North America

HALIFAX, May 29 (CP).—There is just one man in the world who has sailed around the North American continent. He is a Canadian Mountie and he finished the job today.

Sgt. Frederick Sleigh Farrar gazed upon polar bears and beautiful senoritas from the deck of the same vessel—the R.C.M.P. supply ship St. Roch. The small vessel arrived here today to be the first in history to sail around North America.

She battered her way through the Northwest Passage and then sailed southward to the Panama Canal. The trip took her from Halifax to Vancouver to Halifax.

ROUTINE VOYAGE

The red-tunicked sergeant, as well as his commander and other members of the 15-man crew, regarded the whole thing as a routine voyage. The southern part was particularly tame—"it's much more exciting in the Arctic."

Commanding the St. Roch is Inspector K. W. N. Hall of Halifax, handsome, 40-year-old Canadian Navy veteran, who is planning another trip to northern waters within the next five months.

Their main interest when they arrived was "where's my pay?" They were royally entertained at many ports on their southern trip and "all this is sort of tough on the pocket-book of a Mountie."

ONLY ONE

Sgt. Farrar, 40-year-old mate on the St. Roch, was born in Liverpool, England, and now makes his home in Ottawa. He is the only member of the crew who made the trip both ways—the others made only a one-way trip between Vancouver and Halifax.

The record of the 104-foot St. Roch is one of adventure. Built at Vancouver, she began her career serving the Western Arctic. Frozen in during Winter, her crew would become a "land detachment" and carry out long patrols among the Eskimos.

The St. Roch left Vancouver in 1940 and arrived here two years later, after spending more than 11 months fast in Arctic ice in the perilous Northwest Passage. The East-West voyage through the ice wilderness started in July, 1944, from here and ended at the West Coast in October of the same year—a fast trip because the ship encountered little solid ice.

After a period of Arctic patrols, the St. Roch sailed from Esquimalt for Halifax, this time by way of the Panama Canal—a trip that took only 41 days for the vessel with a saucer-like bottom, built for breaking ice.

Young Germans Sneak Across To West Berlin

Communists End Six-Day Rally With Parade by Torchlight

BERLIN, May 29 (INS).—German Communists wound up their six-day youth rally tonight with a torchlight parade and prepared to send their young charges home before too many got a taste of the better life in West Berlin.

The anti-Western rally in East Berlin started backfiring today when several hundred of the East German youngsters sneaked into Free Berlin for a look at the "Golden West."

A number liked it so well they decided they wanted to stay. Communist police finally barricaded elevated and subway exits leading to West Berlin to keep the children on the other side of the border.

VISIT RADIO STATION

More than 400 of the East German youths visited the West Berlin German radio station RIAS, which has acquired a reputation throughout Russian-occupied Germany as "The Voice of Truth."

One of the visiting group said that desperate steps were being taken to prevent their seeing the "relative wealth and freedom of West Berlin."

He said that their barracks had been sealed off with barbed wire and heavy police cordons surrounded the camping area.

The wind-up parade had some of the trappings of the spectacles once brought on by the Nazis.

Thirty thousand marchers moved through Unter den Linden past a reviewing stand filled with East German Government officials while trumpets blared and the 'teen-agers and younger demonstrators sang Communist battle songs.

A speaker representing the Free German Youth Organization sponsoring the rally said an attempt will be made to hold the next big youth demonstration in Bonn, capital of the West German Republic, instead of East Berlin the next time.

The youngsters will return home Monday.

Some of the Communists apparently still had an eye on West Berlin, even though high-up orders barred an invasion of the free part of the city during Sunday's eight-hour youth parade.

The U.S. commandant warned that the Communist threat to West Berlin still exists.

The young Communists leaving East Berlin regimentation were not bent on "invasion," as had been feared before their eight-hour, anti-Western parade, but rather appeared to be looking for a taste of life in the western parts of the city.

They reported miserable conditions in their East Sector "rally" camps, and word reached West Berlin tonight that typhoid has broken out in the camps, with 14 cases already in hospital.

Nova Scotia's Forests Closed as Fires Spread

By The Canadian Press

Nova Scotia's forests were closed to the public today as new fires broke out on both the Mainland and Cape Breton Island.

The move came as Eastern Canada still sweltered, by and large, under a late May heat wave which has dried out timber stands in Ontario, Quebec and the Maritimes.

In Manitoba, one "very serious" blaze had broken out in the Porcupine Forest Reserve, located in the northwestern section near the Saskatchewan border. Scattered week-end showers helped the forest and grass fire situation in Northern Alberta but two new fires broke out southeast of Grande Prairie, 310 miles northwest of Edmonton.

In Ontario, one fire was reported out of control at Portage Bay, on the southeast corner of Lake Nipigon. Two other fires were brought under control in the Lakehead area.

In Northern Ontario, a ban on bush travel was lifted yesterday in Timiskaming and Algonquin Park following week-end rains.

Eastern Quebec and the Maritimes still were danger areas Monday, however.

The Dominion public weather office in Montreal late last night predicted that some rain would fall during Tuesday, easing the threat somewhat.

In Quebec, the Department of Lands and Forests lifted a forest travel ban in 12 of 32 counties—all of them in northwest and western parts of the province. But last night, Lands Minister Bourque ordered a ban on forest travel in Gaspe North and Gaspe South counties.

Vote Stations In New Places

Last-minute changes in the locations of polling stations for the vote on beer by the glass in Victoria were announced yesterday.

Polling division No. 22 has been transferred from 926 Caledonia Avenue to 911 Caledonia Avenue; No. 63 from 1860 Quamichan Street to 1820 Quamichan Street, and No. 38 from 1700 Emerson Street to 1790 Emerson Street.

Air Force Will Receive King's, R.C.A.F. Colors

OTTAWA, May 29 (CP).—For the first time in its history the R.C.A.F. will perform the full ceremonial Trooping of the Color on June 8—the King's birthday.

The occasion will be the presentation by Canada's Governor-General of Colors for use by the R.C.A.F. on ceremonial occasions. More than 400 air force personnel will take part in the trooping, to be held on Parliament Hill.

Two pennants, both approved by the King, will be presented—a King's Color and an R.C.A.F. Color. Both will be carried by a Color Guard.

The King's Color is a square Union Jack edged on three sides by a wide tasseled fringe of red and gold. In the centre of the St. George's Cross are two circles of gold, one within the other. Between them are the words "Royal Canadian Air Force." Within the inner circle is the Royal Cipher in gold. The central devices are surmounted by the Imperial Crown, and the staff carries at its head a golden crown on which stands a lion.

The R.C.A.F. Color is a square flag of azure blue, tasseled on the edges in blue and gold. In the centre is embroidered the air force badge and in each four corners is a gold maple leaf.

The ceremony will feature an inspection of the squadron by Viscount Alexander, presentation of the Colors and a March Past.

The Colors will be retained at Air Force Headquarters for ceremonial occasions within the Ottawa area. Duplicate sets will be presented to Training Command Headquarters, Trenton, and to Northwest Air Command Headquarters, Edmonton.

Both the King's Color and the R.C.A.F. Color will be carried on such occasions as the King's Birthday, Air Force Day and Battle of Britain Sunday.

Chinese Fear Russians Preparing New Incident

TAIPEI, Formosa, May 29 (INS).—Chinese Nationalist leaders expressed fear today that Russia is preparing for new adventures in Asia which carry the risk of another war.

These leaders, both military and political, say that is the reason the Russians have moved jet airplanes to Shanghai and Canton

If war comes, the Chinese say, then the Russian jets will be in position to strike quick blows at American positions in Japan, Okinawa and the Philippines, at British positions in Hongkong and French positions in Indo-China

Governor K C Wu of Formosa, probably the most able civil administrator Chiang Kai-Shek has, gave the most lucid exposition of this belief which is shared by many of the top men in Chiang's Government.

Wu told International News Service

"Logically the next move of the Communists will be against Indo-China, which is ripe for the plucking

"There the Communists have a situation which has become standard for their aggression in the Orient, a nationalistic movement under arms against a Government suported by a Western power.

"The one thing the Russians cannot be sure of is that Indo-China can be taken without setting off a general war

Soviet Jet Planes For Chinese Reds

LONDON, May 29 (Reuters).—Snub-nosed Russian jet fighters—possibly the first to be radar-equipped—are "pouring into the hinterland of Communist-held Southern China," Harold Jones of the United States Civil Aeronautical Board said today.

Jones, who left China three weeks ago, believes the snub-nosed design of these Soviet planes means that the Russians have produced their first radar-equipped night fighter.

Co-operation by Weather May Prevent B.C. Floods

VANCOUVER, May 29 (CP).—Almost perfect co-operation by the weather has so far prevented any damaging floods in British Columbia this year. But the potential danger still exists should an intense heat wave strike the Fraser Valley.

Water Resources Branch officials today, however, reported the situation is much more favorable than it was early this month, but that the flow in the main river systems could be stronger.

The level of the Fraser River at Hope, 100 miles east of Vancouver, was 21.85 feet today, an increase of about three inches in the last 24-hour period. This is 13 feet below the level at Hope on the same day of 1948 when flood waters inundated thousands of acres in the Fraser Valley.

Cool weather gales and rain which struck the Coast yesterday have now moved into the Interior.

Water officials report there is roughly four-fifths of the Winter's snow-fall still on the mountains, and that "there still could be trouble"

In the East Kootenays the three warm days the end of last week finally set streams to rising again after drops since Mid-May.

Though not up to average levels, Mark Creek through Kimberley started up again, the St. Mary's was up and carrying some debris, and the Kootenay at Port Steele showed the effect of this and of run-off into its own headwater as it headed toward Wardner and southward to Montana

USUAL INUNDATION

Moyie Lake alone failed to drop after early May warmth, and appears to be still rising with fields at the north end under water as they usually are each Spring

Flow from the Moyie into the Kootenay River in Idaho could account for last week's spurts in Kootenay level at Bonners' Ferry.

Constant dry wind has done much to remove snow on foothills and consistent sunshine has cleared southeastern faces of the mountains to a fairly high level, but much more snow than average remains to run off yet

Cabaret Raids By Dry Squad Draw Protest

VANCOUVER, May 29 (CP).—The week-end liquor raids on downtown cabarets and night spots brought a protest today from Alderman Archie Proctor during a City Council meeting

He termed the raids a "farce" and declared the police action was a waste of personnel

"When is this Council going to demand that the Attorney-General modernize our liquor laws to eliminate this farce?"

Mayor Charles Thompson said the subject was out of order in formal Council and it should come before a committee session.

ANTI-DRINK CAMPAIGN

Meanwhile, 19 persons face liquor Act summonses following a renewed anti-drink campaign by police during the week-end Three night club proprietors will join some of their patrons in receiving summonses

Supt. George Lefler of the criminal investigation branch said today the raids were only the beginning of a new campaign

"The department will carry out a program of regular checks to enforce rigidly the law against liquor in night clubs"

He said that cabaret patrons are flouting the law "too openly"

Alderman Proctor sometime ago proposed a referendum on the liquor problem, seeking reforms that would permit legalized sale in cabarets and night clubs

National Guard Quells Unrest

MORRISTOWN, Tenn., May 29 (INS).—More than 300 National Guardsmen were sent into the strike-bound Americe Enka Corporation plant near Morristown today to restore order following reports of violence.

Gen R. G McReynolds, in command of the Tennessee guardsmen, said that about 300 persons turned over the cars of several non-striking workers who were attempting to drive into the plant early today

McReynolds set up headquarters in the plant, one of the nation's largest rayon manufacturing concerns, and a second headquarters was established at the city jail in Morristown

No one was reported injured in today's violence and no arrests were made but authorities said some warrants may be sworn out against strikers.

'Red Dean' Hears Archbishop Assail Atheism in Russia

CANTERBURY, Kent, England, May 28 (Reuters).—Dr. Hewlett Johnson, Canterbury's "Red Dean," sat today with bowed head in Canterbury Cathedral while Most Rev. Geoffrey Fisher, Archbishop of Canterbury, read from Communist writings "examples of the atheism of the East."

Dr. Johnson, staunch upholder of Communism as "Christianity in Action," returned earlier this week-end from a lecture tour of Canada. He stood today at the west door of the cathedral, according to tradition, to welcome the archbishop before a Whitsunday service attended by 2,000 people.

Dr. Fisher read an extract from a Russian teachers' magazine which stated that children ought to be guided by the "party spirit—not the holy spirit."

"In every Russian and Communist school, while religion is allowed to exist, there is this ceaseless pressure of propaganda of atheism going on," the archbishop said.

Ponders Vicious Attacks

Believes Too Much Play Cause of Teen-Age Crime

(The Los Angeles area has been plagued in past weeks by so-called "rat packs" groups of teen-agers who seemingly take delight in sporadic attacks on men, women and children for purposes of robbery, attack, or at times for no purpose at all. Dr Marion Durfee internationally-known psychologist and director of the Pasadena Child Guidance Clinic, herein expresses his views on why such conditions exist today.)

By OWEN CALLIN

PASADENA, Calif., May 29 (INS).—Modern children have too much luxury and too little opportunity to work. They play too much. We need more cows for them to milk, more cordwood to split and less leisure

That is how Dr Marion Durfee, internationally-known psychologist, explained today the Los Angeles "rat packs"—groups of teen-agers who during the past weeks have staged sporadic attacks on men, women and children.

BEATEN BY GANG

(One of the latest attacks of the "rat packs" put a visitor from Texas in a hospital where he was reported in serious condition from a beating by six young hoodlums. The victim is Edward Whitman, 34, of Fort Worth, who stopped to assist a stalled motorist.

(When he alighted from the car he was rushed by the hoodlums, who beat and kicked him. Bruised and bloody, he staggered to a nearby cafe for help In addition to the beating he was robbed of his watch and wallet.)

Just previously a teen-age criminal spree occurred in suburban Long Beach, where three high school pupils passed notes back and forth in class which resulted in the formation of a "crime club" and the death of a liquor store owner followed

CHARGED WITH MURDER

Two youths concerned were 17 years old and the third member of the trio was a 15-year-old girl. All three are charged with murder

"It would take a good crystal ball to know what was going on inside the minds of the three Long Beach teen-age crime club members whose play hours led to a brutal murder," Dr. Durfee said.

He blamed part of the outbreak of youthful crime on the war because "in the war we taught our youth to kill and after the war we parents went back to the old ways of thinking whereas our children haven't."

The psychologist added.

"You don't shoot guns at people and kill them, and you don't harm helpless animals."

Dr. Durfee wondered if "we haven't overdone this matter of play—I don't recall a single big figure in history who played too much."

"Thomas Edison was selling vegetables on a train when he was 12 years old. Benjamin Franklin was working in his brother's print shop. Abraham Lincoln was wielding an axe," he said.

Laborite Drive Features Slowdown on Socialism

LONDON, May 29 (AP).—The Labor Party is getting set for a new election drive featuring a slowdown on Socialism.

Two secret conferences in the last ten days have picked out two salient efforts to win the favor of the voters, say informed sources in the Labor Government.

The first is beamed at the British housewife.

Labor's new deal will mean lower prices for fruit, vegetables and fish which now are largely free of price control. This is part of their chief plan for attempting to show that Socialism can mean a shilling in the purse as well as a grandiose plan for public ownership of industry.

Plans once laid for state control of food distribution have been shelved, however. In its place will come a plan to shake up the distribution system and try to reduce the wide spread between farm prices and store prices. A system of municipal markets, based on the grower-to-consumer idea, is likely to be advocated.

The second decision is to shelve plans for more excursions into public ownership of industry. Hopes of proceeding swiftly with state ownership or direction of such enterprises as sugar refining, cement making, chemicals and shipbuilding have been laid aside, at least temporarily.

The iron and steel industry, for which Parliament already has approved state ownership, will be taken over on schedule next year.

But from now on, the Government intends to concentrate on making the state-owned industries work more efficiently so they can turn out more goods at lower cost.

Some Conservative newspapers already are speculating that an election may come as soon as this Summer.

Their evidence is a guess based on swift moves to ease the lot of this land which has lived for years under tight rationing Milk and gasoline were removed from rationing last week.

Although foods such as butter, meat, bacon and cheese continue to be rationed, the food pinch has been greatly eased.

All this, and especially the sudden end of gasoline rationing on the eve of a holiday week-end, is bound to please many voters.

The timing of the election, however, still is a problem for the Government.

Children, Parents Co-operate In Oak Bay's Clean-Up Week

Oak Bay's annual Clean-Up Week, sponsored by the municipal fire department, is now in full swing.

Chief E. G. Clayards said yesterday more than 1,500 pamphlets have been distributed and he anticipates another successful campaign.

School children are given pamphlets asking questions about cleaning up around the home. The children, under their parents' supervision, fill out the forms. In this way the whole family digs in and helps clean up.

"We stress upon the children's minds that all fires are the same size at first," stated Chief Clayards.

He explained that residents are urged to clean up basements, attics, yards and garages, and check furnaces and all electrical equipment. Repairing of worn articles also is recommended.

Clean-Up Week runs throughout this week but fire department officials believe every week should see residents practising its principles.

Police said the accident occurred when Bradfield was forced to stop to allow the car ahead of him to turn left on Robert Street.

FORESEE LOSS

The Causeway Service Station and Dickson Brothers Garage have asked that provision be made in the new city by-law governing hours of operation of service stations to permit them to stay open until midnight daily.

Operators of the two service stations said they had been informed the new by-law would make it compulsory for an operator either to close at 6 p.m. daily or remain open continuously and on Sundays and holidays.

The two firms said they would suffer serious loss through such a by-law.

Trainman Hurt In Accident At Deerholme

Fred Goode, 48, Shawnigan Lake trainman, suffered serious foot injuries Saturday when run over by a shunting C.N.R. freight train in the yards at Deerholme, six miles from Duncan.

Goode slipped on track gravel while pulling out an underslung pin from one of the train's 12 cars. Four or five cars passed over him before his plight was noticed by the train crew.

Goode has been employed by the C.N.R. for 23 years.

Policemen Arrive In Seconds

Police attendance at accidents is getting so fast that motorists can hardly believe it.

Policemen in this area appear to be getting in the habit of being "on the spot" when accidents occur.

Last week B.C. Police Highway Patrol Constable Bud Godfrey was driving in the vicinity of the Four-Mile Hill when he was witness to an accident which turned out to be of the hit-and-run variety. He took chase and after a scuffle arrested the culprit.

Early Sunday morning, Constable Doug Callin was patroling the highway near the Six-Mile House when a two-car collision occurred not far ahead of him. The injured occupants of the cars must have been amazed to see police on the scene so soon.

Sunday night, Saanich Constable John Burnett was driving along Gorge Road near Harriet Road when a car passed him and subsequently struck a pole and then another car. City Constable Ray Maitland, who is building a house nearby, also was on the scene in a matter of seconds.

Judge Shandley Reserves Decision in Test Case Over Raising of Victoria's Trades Licence Fees

Judge H. H. Shandley in County Court yesterday reserved judgment on the appeal of J. R. McIlree, young Victoria barrister, against conviction by Magistrate H. C. Hall in city police court December 14 for failure to pay the city's increased trades licence fee.

Mr. McIlree was ordered to pay the fee, $75, plus $2.50 costs.

Backed by Victoria Bar Association as a test case, an appeal from the magistrate's decision first came before County Court January 30. Judge Shandley then ruled that he had no jurisdiction to hear the appeal, because no notice had been served on the Attorney-General.

APPEAL SUCCESSFUL

H. W. Davey, K.C., counsel for McIlree, appealed the ruling to Appeal Court. His appeal was allowed by that court, April 24, and the case was sent back to County Court.

The appeal seeks to test the validity of an amendment to a city by-law which increased some city licence rates last year. Among the increases was the fee for a barrister's and solicitor's licence—up from $25 to $75.

Mr. Davey argued that the by-law was invalid because it was passed in "permanent" form instead of being passed every year, based on what would be produced that year. He reminded the court that under the Victoria City Act the city could collect only a total of $200,000 in licence fees.

NO EVIDENCE

He contended there was no evidence that City Council had itself examined the number of tradesmen and professional men who would be taxable, and estimated the amount that might be received. The council had delegated its authority to its officials and finance committee, he said. This he argued, it had no right to do.

C. L. Harrison, Crown counsel, asserted that such a "narrow interpretation" of a council's powers placed the work of all municipal councils in British Columbia in jeopardy.

He stated that a municipal council had a perfect right to delegate authority. "A municipal corporation acts through its officers," he said. It would be impossible for the council to call every doctor, lawyer and member of other taxable occupation before it, count them and examine their credentials.

GROSS ABSURDITY

"It's an absolute gross absurdity," he said. "In modern times you can't go through all that nonsense." He pointed out that the estimated receipts from licences were $196,000.

"There's no such thing as a permanent by-law," he said.

Mr. Davey explained he meant a by-law which stood until amended, and added that it was legitimate for a council to delegate its authority in some matters, but "things which go to the root of legislation are the responsibility of the council itself."

The council might delegate fact-finding power, but should examine the findings, he contended.

At one point the judge said: "You don't mean to tell me the council overlooked the fact they could charge as much as this from 1922 on?"

"They did," said Mr. Davey. "Somebody must be remiss."

"We can be thankful for that, anyway," Mr. Davey said.

Classic Swiftsure Race Won by 45-Foot Gossip

Winning yacht in the Pacific Northwest Swiftsure Race, which ended late yesterday off the Victoria breakwater, was Gossip, 45-foot sloop owned by Dr. R. Philip Smith of the Seattle Yacht Club, it was announced last night by local race committee officials.

Fastest time of 29 hours 36 minutes 17 seconds over the 160-mile course was made by Maruffa, 74-foot yawl belonging to J. Graham, member of both the Seattle and Victoria Yacht Clubs, which, however, placed sixth according to corrected times.

Second was Nautilus III, owned by Harbine Monroe, Tacoma Yacht Club; third, Ono, Hubert Day, Corinthian Yacht Club, Seattle; fourth, Alatole, Charles Frisbie, Corinthian Yacht Club, fifth, Redjacket, George Parsons, Seattle Yacht Club, sixth, Maruffa.

TWO FAIL TO FINISH

A total of 12 vessels participated in the race, two of which failed to finish.

The race got under way 10 a.m. Sunday, off Protection Island, near Port Townsend.

Only Victorian participating was Dr. J. R. Wride, yacht club commodore, who was aboard the Maruffa.

Weather was described as "fluky" with winds as high as 40 knots, which at one point, knocked the winning Gossip flat and necessitated on-the-spot repairs.

Finish line phases were handled by a special committee of local yacht club, including F. Ohrt, Gen. B. Stein and Dr. J. Mercer.

NAVY PATROLS

Units of the Royal Canadian Navy, including the H.M.C.S. Athabaskan, and the United States Coast Guard patroled the course as the race progressed.

Times of the winning vessels will be re-checked today by officials of the Pacific International Yachting Association, sponsors of the race, and further details regarding late and non-finishers announced, Mr. Ohrt said last night.

Wyatt Elected Officer Of Air Force Group

Cecil C. Wyatt, Victoria's new city manager, who will take office in September, was elected third-vice-president of the Air Force Association at the first annual convention held recently in Ottawa.

James Ashton, former wing commander at Patricia Bay airport and now president of the Victoria Wing of the association, made the announcement last night at a meeting held in the Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans' Hall.

Mr. Ashton met the new city manager at the convention and told the 30-odd members that he was very pleased Mr. Wyatt had accepted his new post.

During the World War, Mr. Wyatt served with distinction in the administrative branch of the R.C.A.F. in Canada, the United States and the United Kingdom.

A motion was passed at the meeting that $50 of the association's funds be earmarked to assist one member of No 89 (Kinsmen) Royal Canadian Air Cadet Squadron through a flying course.

Expect to Harvest 6,000 Tons of Berries

NEW WESTMINSTER, May 29 (CP)—Fraser Valley farmers expect to harvest an estimated 6,000 tons of strawberries this year, provincial district agriculturists said today.

"There is keen interest in berries and it looks like the crop will be cleaned up fast," said an official of Pacific Co-operative Mission Union.

Whitsuntide Passes, But Shadow Lingers

DETERMINED preparation on the part of West German officials and occupation forces may, as is said, have averted a major "incident" in the streets of Berlin on Sunday, but the West would be foolish to read into this any thought that the Kremlin has abandoned either its designs on the capital or the tenacity of its hold on a large number of German youths. The prior record, up to and including Whitsuntide, has been too clear for that. The real danger in Sunday's situation was that an equal and opposing body of German youth was waiting for the Communists to cross the civic border, less disciplined than the deluded youths under the Red banner. Fortunately the show of preparation was enough, and the Russians did not risk it.

That does not dispose of the continuing questions. Soviet leaders have taken every step short of open conflict to try to squeeze what is left of the Allies out of Berlin. The Whitsuntide demonstration — nominally a sports and youth rally for Communist German youth—could easily have turned into serious rioting and a Russian excuse that force was necessary to put it down. Had there been no Allied preparation that might well have been the actual sequence. As matters stood the rally and the sports were held; both sides kept to their own quarters, and a few score Communist youths crossed the border on harmless sightseeing tours, bringing tales of grim misery with them from the other side.

The pertinent fact in so far as German youth is concerned is that neither the East nor the West has succeeded yet in removing the Hitler legend. In both youth camps there is distrust of the East and the West; a dislike for "occupation" in any form; and a hard, bitter cynicism which was the almost inevitable result of the complete breakdown of a nation under arms in a losing war. Democracy has some distance to go yet before such minds are won.

The Chinese Seat in the United Nations

CONFUSION will be nothing new to the United Nations, judging by some past performances there, but Mr. Trygve Lie may well be right when he says that if the Chinese question is not settled soon this will be the atmosphere that will envelop the meeting of the General Assembly in September. So long as Russia boycotts the work of the United Natinns will the world organization be hamstrung as a peacetime instrument on a global scale. Mr. Lie's concern, as the senior permanent official of the United Nations, is understandable.

It is pleasant to have Mr. Lie's assurance on his return from Moscow that Russia still has confidence in the United Nations and wants it to work. One might say that if this is so all the Russians need to do is to return to the fold and take their rightful place at the council table. The boycott, while an effective medium of protest in some instances, is scarcely an evidence of good will. Yet while doubting Russian methods it has to be said they have reality on their side when they demand that the Nationalist China delegate be unseated and a Communist China delegate elected in his stead.

The facts of physical control of China are not to be disputed no matter how they may be regretted. Chiang Kai-shek's representative on the Security Council no longer represents China, so that there is validity to Russian insistence that another Soviet satellite be given recognition by the United Nations. The Whitsuntide Communist flop in Berlin may induce Russia to be more adamant than ever on this matter. A Russian victory at the United Nations on the Chinese question, which seems almost certain, would help to restore prestige damaged badly because of Western firmness in the German capital.

Lumber Strike Would Hurt Workers Most

REJECTION by the policy committee of the International Woodworkers of America of the terms of settlement suggested by a three-man conciliation board has come as somewhat of a surprise. The union has its own nominee on the board, and since the compromise agreement it recommended represented the board's unanimous view of a fair settlement, the expectation was that the dispute over a new contract for the lumber industry could be determined without recourse to strike action. That is still possible, for both sides apparently remain open to continued negotiation.

The union's committee has shown good judgment in not rushing the membership into a strike vote. June 15 has been set as the date for the taking of the poll, and that allows ample opportunity for the issues to be further canvassed in the meantime. For the good of everyone, and especially the men themselves, it is to be hoped that reason will prevail and that work in the woods can continue without another interruption like the strike at the peak of the season in 1946.

The unusual length and severity of last Winter seriously curtailed earnings in the logging industry, and with memory of what they lost in wages in 1946 still fresh, it seems unlikely that the workers—or their families—would relish the thought of a work stoppage at a time when full employment is available. The 1946 strike, which in the end yielded the men nothing they could not have had without stopping work, was too costly a mistake to be repeated.

Letters and Excerpts

Letters to the editor on any topic of genuine interest are welcome if they are brief, accurate and fair. No letter will be inserted in whole or in part, except over the proper signature and address of the writer. Unsolicited correspondence cannot be returned.

ALSO ZONED OUT

Sir,—I have just finished reading a letter you printed in a recent issue, "Zoned Out" in Ward Six of Saanich. On talking this over with my neighbors I find that I'm also in a zoned area. I bought this property to raise bulbs and to build a farm machinery repair shop and intended to do this work for the local farmers. Now I can't build the shop.

Does Saanich Council want all the people to work in Victoria? It's just about time they helped the Saanich residents build some industry within its borders.

I'm sure going to vote for secession, and do all I can to get others to do the same.

L. R. SEVEN

Royal Oak, B.C.

SAANICH SECESSION

Sir,—About five years ago the property owners in Wards Five and Six, to the extent of over 51% of the property values, petitioned the Provincial Government to be allowed to secede from the Saanich Municipality. Since then no decision has been made and a large amount of property has changed hands, and many new residents have settled in the area.

Would it not be a valuable service to the public for you to open your columns to the leaders of both sides of the controversy to expound their views for the enlightenment of these newcomers, so that a large and intelligent vote may be forthcoming on June 10?

The matter is very important to those concerned.

G. H. PETHICK

R.R. 1, Royal Oak, B.C.

Editor's Note: Secession comment has been freely vented in these columns over the last three years, often as spot news material.

CIVIC TAXATION

Sir,—In a recent issue it states City Council has under consideration a new trades licence by-law in the hope of increasing city's 1950 revenue. May I suggest this is only a temporary solution.

Under present system of taxation, the burden of carrying the city's expenditure falls wholly upon the owners of real estate (homes, blocks, etc.) and is not distributed according to recognised principles of "ability to pay" and "benefits received."

In any system of taxation, to be fair, just and successful, it should: Permit the city to raise its revenue for current expenditures speedily; it should be based on ability to pay for benefits received; and it should be distributed so that cost of maintenance of sewers, streets, sidewalks, etc., be charged against the property benefitted on completion of work, and the cost of regulating public health, education, police and fire protection, etc., be assessed according to the ability of residents to pay.

It should impose an unearned increment tax, so as to prevent any owner making an undue profit out of enhanced value of his land created by the expenditure of the people and their presence.

A growing demand is springing up for a re-adjustment and re-distribution of the burden . . .

"He Who Has Once Been Happy"

He who has once been happy is for aye
Out of destruction's reach. His fortune then
Holds nothing secret, and Eternity,
Which is a mystery to other men,
Has like a woman given him its joy.
Time is his conquest. Life, if it should fret,
Has paid him tribute. He can bear to die.
He who has once been happy! When I set
The world before me and survey its range,
Its mean ambitions, its scant fantasies,
The shreds of pleasure which for lack of change
Men wrap around them and call happiness,
The poor delights which are the tale and sum
Of the world's courage in its martyrdom . . .

Thinking Aloud

"of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

WHY admirals, vice-admirals and commodores should require songs of their own is one of those mysteries known only to naval tradition, at once the proudest and most tortuous system of service etiquette yet devised by man.

The fact is—and it is not to be altered, any more than were the laws of the Medes and Persians—that they have.

Until lately, as perhaps you know, when an admiral of the R.C.N., or a vice-admiral in the person of the Chief of Naval Staff, was given his proper musical salute it was "Rule Britannia" that the band played. "Iolanthe" was deemed to be the measure of a vice-admiral and a rear-admiral, while commodores had to be content with "Garb of Old Gaul."

These nautical favors sounded pleasantly in gold-laced ears, there can be no doubt. If you were so saluted you would be happy also.

The tunes, however, are to be changed. "O Canada," or at any rate two bars of it, will replace "Rule Britannia"; "Iolanthe" will give way to "The Maple Leaf for Ever," and the Canadien paddling song, "C'est l'aviron qui nous mene en haut" will substitute for "Garb of Old Gaul."

This is in line with the Canadianization of the R.C.N. recommended by the Mainguy Commission.

* * *

About one tune in particular, "Rule Britannia," there has been some heart-burning. A gale struck the House of Commons in Ottawa while the changes were being debated, involving members in heavy seas of argument. Those whose British blood flooded instantly to their heads didn't like the abolition from the Canadian scene of this time-honored naval refrain. They didn't hesitate to say so, either.

Across the seas in Britain that distinguished "Naval Person", Winston Churchill, didn't like it either, and he also didn't hesitate to say so, even though the matter was slightly out of his bailiwick. He noted the change with a "bitter pang."

He rather spoiled his objection, however, by going on to talk about Germans singing their national anthem. He was "shocked" about the fuss made in Britain over this, because "that is not the way one great nation deals with another."

Right then it struck me that if Germans are to be allowed, without criticism, to sing their own anthems—as they should be—then Canadians should be allowed, without criticism, to play what tunes they want on their own warships.

* * *

I don't think, really, that any fundamental upset will result from the substitution of "O Canada" for "Rule Britannia". I have a feeling that should the need arise again the R.C.N. will be alongside the R.N. with the same promptitude as before, admirals' musical salutes notwithstanding.

After all, Canadians are only doing what their British forbears did—evolving a distinctive identity so that they may be known for what they are. The Englishman developed from various strains and cultures, dropping his Continental habits and traditions as the need for his own arose. So did the Scot.

Perhaps it may seem that Canadians are making the changes all at once, insofar as the Navy is concerned—but that is all.

The Ottawa Evening Citizen takes a lighter view of the matter, which is maybe the best way of treating a delicate subject. Observing that "O Canada" and "The Maple Leaf for Ever" lack the salty flavor of the sea it suggests that more appropriate choices would be "Row, Row, Row Your Boat Gently Down the Stream" for the admirals, and "Red Sails in the Sunset" for the vice-admirals and rear-admirals.

One thing at least is worth noting. Whatever the tune the salute itself remains steadfast.

Red Overtures to Arabs

By O. M. MARASHIAN
North American Newspaper Alliance

CAIRO.—Soviet agents and sympathizers in Arab countries have launched a large-scale propaganda campaign to widen the breach between Anglo-Saxons and Arabs and to prevent the latter from joining the Western camp in a future conflict.

Increased underground activity of Communists and their influential connections in Cairo, the presence of Communist agitators among the 750,000 Arab refugees—victims of the Palestine war—and the pro-Soviet declarations of certain Syrian politicians all point to the fact that the Kremlin is hatching new designs in the Middle East.

The "brains" of the Soviet propaganda and infiltration outfit in the Arab countries is Daniel Solod, former Russian Minister to Syria and the Lebanon, who has returned to Moscow to head the new Office of Middle Eastern Affairs in the Russian Foreign Ministry.

Before returning home, Solod informed the Syrian Government that Russia was willing to sell them arms, since the Syrian Army couldn't get them from Britain or the United States. Solod's farewell interviews with various political and non-political leaders in Damascus resulted in kind declarations for the Soviet Union in the Syrian press.

Dr. Maarool El Dawaleebe, Syrian Minister of National Economy, and a good friend of Daniel Solod, several times repeated his proposal for a treaty of friendship between Syria and the Soviet Union and, possibly, other Arab states. Similar proposals were voiced by the Egyptian Socialist Party, the Egyptian Nationalist Party, and the Moslem Socialist Front, new name for the fanatical Moslem Brotherhood Association of Syria.

* * *

As a first step to a treaty of friendship, Dr. Dawaleebe said he was now negotiating a trade agreement with Russia. Solod is reported to have taken proposals for closer co-operation between the two countries to Moscow.

Dr. Dawaleebe is the man who said a few weeks ago that Arabs would prefer a thousand times to become a Soviet republic rather than see their countries "Zionized" by the United States.

Communist party headquarters in Beirut, Haifa and Nazareth have received new orders from Moscow to exploit the discontent and miserable conditions in Arab refugee camps in Lebanon, Syria and Jordan, and among Arab minority groups in Israel. Reports from these camps say Communist agitators organized mass meetings to indoctrinate the refugees against the U.N. Economic Survey Mission for the Middle East.

The Communist aim is to disillusion the refugees about the U.N. and the Anglo-Americans, and thus turn them toward the Soviet Union. Eyewitnesses in refugee camps report many pro-Soviet demonstrations in which thousands of ragged men raised clenched fists and hailed Comrade Stalin.

The Communist Party of Palestine (made up of Arabs and Jews), in a conference in Nazareth, decided to double its activities both in Israel and in areas incorporated by King Abdullah of Jordan.

In Egypt, the roundup of Communists has convinced security agents that organizers of underground cells are not hungry, frustrated intellectuals, but well-paid, well-trained party members. More than 100 Communists were arrested by Cairo police in the past month. Seized documents proved the organisers of the secret cells were paid monthly salaries by a regional committee.

Documents also showed their contacts with persons in responsible positions, whom the Communists intended to use as "fronts." Apartments, used by the outlawed Communists to hold their meetings, contained small printing presses on which party members turned out thousands of pamphlets and an underground newspaper which was distributed among students and workers.

Attitude Towards the Job

(From The Financial Post)

A BASIC difference in attitude toward his job lies at the root of the American construction worker's superiority over his British counterpart. So concludes a team of British building experts after a six-week study of construction methods in the United States. They went back to London early this month to report just why output per man-hour is 50 per cent higher in free enterprise America than in Socialist Britain.

"The American hasn't acquired the habit of doing less than he is capable of doing," the report says. "The whole American way of life is a challenge to the individual to give his best.

"Having secured employment in a highly competitive industry that offers a high standard of living the worker is prepared to make a real effort to retain it . . ."

Some new incentives will have to be found to make the British worker give his best—possibly a system of payments by results, the report states.

Also commented on was the United States worker's advantage in better job organisation, better materials with which to work and better food.

Getting worker production up is Britain's only hope for economic health and anything like the standard of living she now has.

The Canadian economist, Gilbert Jackson, calculates that the increase in Britain's industrial production since prewar is only about 15 per cent. The corresponding figure for the United States is 80 per cent and for Canada 88½ per cent.

This report on the building trades is pretty grim reading.

It is a sharp warning to utopians; a sad commentary on the theory that, with Socialism and total security schemes, the laws of human nature can be repealed.

The doctor placed a thermometer in the wife's mouth. Just before he removed it, the man, who had watched spellbound, being unused to such silence on the part of his better half, blurted out: "Doctor, what will you take for that thing you put in her mouth?"

"I SHALL now present a mystifying act involving that rare gift known as second sight," the genial master of ceremonies said to his audience during a smoking concert in the auditorium of a war veterans' club. He waved his right hand, and a man with a colored turban emerged from a side door. He produced a crystal ball from one of his pockets, laid it carefully on a table surrounded by a wide sheet of white paper, and sat down to concentrate on the globe. The master of ceremonies turned his back to the crystal gazer and asked one of the audience in a whisper if he had a pencil. He was handed a small stub which he concealed in his right hand. "Concentrate," he said to the man with the crystal ball. The magician bent his head low over the table and covered both eyes with his hands. It was quite apparent that from his position he could not see the master of ceremonies, let alone what he had in his hand. "What have I in my right hand?" the master of ceremonies asked, holding the pencil stub aloft. "You are holding a pencil," the magician answered. "All right, I have a pencil, but what color is it?" the man continued. "You are holding a green pencil," the magician replied. The act was repeated with a wrist watch, which the magician described with great accuracy. Next he held aloft a bunch of keys, and asked: "Can you tell the audience what I am holding?" The magician muttered a few strange words before he answered: "You have something connected with a house. The vision is not very clear. Now it is better. I get the impression of two door keys and an automobile key on a ring." There were cheers from the audience. Then the master of ceremonies borrowed a packet of matches and walked to a remote corner of the auditorium. "What am I holding?" he asked. The face of a man burst through the paper surrounding the magician's table and snarled. "Why the heck did you have to spoil the act by going around a corner so I couldn't see through the pin-hole in this paper?"

The Packsack

By GREGORY CLARK

AN ugly chunk of iron fell off some truck load of junk and lay in the middle of the road. It was angular, and weighed about ten pounds.

I saw the cars ahead of me swerving around it and speeding on. And so warned, I jogged around it too. Only because I am a newspaperman, and not from any impulse of public duty, I pulled to the side of the pavement, and watched back to see how many cars would pass that dangerous object before one would come whose driver had a sense of responsibility for the safety of his fellow men.

That hunk of iron could have created a tragedy right there and then. Some car, whose driver was not quick enough to swerve, or whose attention was wandering, might hit it in such a way as to break his steering column and send him careening into a pole. Or, if it did not wreck him at once, it might give his car a jolt that would crack an axle or a bar or a steering arm. And a hundred miles later, when he was speeding along a highway far away, his car might suddenly and mysteriously go out of control and send him headlong over a steep bank.

In four minutes, 74 cars and trucks swerved around that iron chunk, and not one of them stopped to toss it out of the way of others following. Was it lack of time? Or lack of inclination? What is the matter with the human race today that nobody is concerned with anybody's security but his own? Is not this tiny incident in a big city's haste, the perfect miniature of the great, wide, political, spiritual world?

The 75th car dodged so violently that I could observe and piously reflect no longer. I jumped out of my car and ran back. I watched my chance and darted out to the iron hunk. It was heavier than I suspected. As I wrestled with it a truck bore down on me, and around it darted one of those little English cars. Horns, brakes and I all screamed at once. I made the curb. Everybody was mad. It was hardly worth it. . . .

Products of 30 Countries Displayed As Trade Fair Opened at Toronto

TORONTO, May 29 (CP).—The Canadian International Trade Fair opened today, and for 12 days Toronto will be a truly international centre of commerce, rich with the goods of many countries, gay with the costumes of many lands.

Exhibits worth many millions of dollars are on display and 40,000 visitors—buyers and sellers—will crowd hotels and the highways leading to the fair site.

As this year's show got under way for its third year, Trade Minister Howe announced that it will be held again in 1951, May 28-June 8.

Hubert Guerin, French ambassador to Canada, who opened the fair, brought a hopeful message to traders. He spoke of a Western Europe moving towards greater co-operation and a lowering of its national barriers.

"Happily at present, the freeing of European trade, begun in 1945, and the working out of a monetary union of payments, both show that the countries of Western Europe are beginning to form one large European market.

"Trade can increase as we desire only if we succeed in making European currencies convertible."

Referring to proposals to pool French and German industries, he added.

"It appears that altering the very structure of European basic production may result in building up a vast market which would give our basic industries the necessary means for considerable output and consequently a reduction in price, which would gradually bring about on the European continent the conditions of material well-being which exist in North America."

The flags of more than 30 exhibiting countries were raised; and, as part of the annual opening day which Portugal seems to have taken over, Guerin and Howe posed for pictures with Portuguese girls in national costume

The official tour passed displays of most of the things which the world produces—jewels, silverware, textiles, machinery, motor cars, food, liquors, toys, gadgets.

Baby Crane Believed Lost, Dead

AUSTWELL, Texas, May 29 (AP).—Rusty, the baby Whooping crane, is believed dead.

The little Whooper, newest of only 36 Whooping cranes on earth, was missing today from the Aransas National Wildlife Refuge, 150 marshy acres near this Gulf Coast town.

Julian A. Howard, manager of the Refuge, reported sadly that Rusty probably fell prey to a snake, raccoon or vulture.

Rusty was the pride of the Texas Gulf Coast. Ever since his parents, Joseph and Crip, began nesting on April 22, bird scientists had trained telescopes and field glasses on the marsh-grass nest for 13 hours every day.

EXPERTS JUBILANT

And bird experts were jubilant on Friday when they first sighted Rusty. He was the first Whooping crane ever born in capitivity. For 13 years the United States Fish and Wildlife Service has striven to preserve from extinction the graceful, colorful Whoopers—North America's tallest bird. They are 4½ feet tall and have a wingspan of 7½ feet.

Howard made the announcement after a thorough, desperate search of the Refuge. He believed Rusty disappeared yesterday. There was a rainstorm yesterday morning, and when the clouds cleared, Josephine was seen feeding Rusty with Crip standing nearby.

Shortly after that, it became apparent that Jo and Crip were no longer tending a chick. They made feeding trips together at great distances from the nest.

Anniversary of Dunkirk Marked by Publication

LONDON, May 29 (Reuters).—Just ten years ago there took place the "Miracle of Dunkirk"—the evacuation of more than 335,000 British and French soldiers across the English Channel when Hitler swept through the Low Countries and France.

The story has been brought to life again by two men who were in it—Lt.-Col. Ewan Butler and Major J. Selby Bradford, authors of the newly-published "Keep the Memory Green."

From the remnants of the gallant British Expeditionary Force sprang the great armies of the Commonwealth which returned to the beaches of France four years later in the massive D-Day Allied invasion.

FRESH FACTS

"Keep the Memory Green," put together by professional writers, adds fresh facts to a narrative already a legend, and reminds the Western world—and Britain in particular—of the need to keep prepared.

Lacking in equipment, the British Army found strength, however, in a good spirit and worthy leadership.

Viscount Gort, Commander-in-Chief, set an example among his officers for austerity living. Only once, says the book, did he feel his officers really needed a drink—the day the Belgian Army capitulated after weeks of furious fighting.

"Belgians given up, French fallen back on our right. Bad—bad. I think we'd all better have a glass of champagne."

The grim retreat to the beaches had its lighter moments.

LIQUOR DUMPED

At Lille, the British Expeditionary Force's liquor supplies for a whole year were dumped in a river. Passing troops were invited to take all they could carry, but the troop-carrying trucks were too full.

"By Jove," observed an onlooker di[illegible]ly as he gazed into the dirty water, "those fish are going to have a permanent hangover for the rest of their lives."

Oddities

PHILADELPHIA, May 29 (AP).—A burglar got in but failed to get out of the Sunken Gardens restaurant. Police said he sampled too much of his loot.

An employee started opening the front door this morning when a voice called out: "Let me out." The employee, instead, notified police.

Inside they found Robert Graham, 34, seated at a table with four bottles of whisky. He dozed off before police could question him.

CLEVELAND, May 29 (AP).—"Banko" night at the Knickerbocker Theatre got a bit complicated last night.

Manager Bernard Wander was calling numbers for the card-holding audience in the bingo-type game when a mighty shout of "Banko" from about half the crowd rocked him back on his heels.

It turned out that all the claimants to the $240 jackpot had received identical cards, apparently packaged in error by the supplier.

While the customers watched the show, Wander and his assistants checked the signed cards and then doled out dollar bills—one to each of the 250 winners—as they left the theatre.

United Allied Front Result of Rally

Interpreting the News

By J. M. ROBERTS, Jr.
A.P. Foreign Affairs Analyst

Western claims of a victory in Berlin can be credited only if the Russians actually intended, originally, to make Sunday's demonstration more than the parade and political rally which it turned out to be.

Nevertheless there were Communist threats of a putsch. The Allies stood firm, never wavering in their determination to meet, with armed force if necessary, whatever might develop. The Communists either backed down, or their putsch talk was merely a trial balloon in the first place.

READY TOGETHER

The demonstration did one thing, however, whether or not it can be called an Allied victory. It presented a united front of Allied and West German interests which may prove more significant in the long battle for Germany than the mere events of one day. Thousands of West German police and Allied soldiers stood ready for concerted action, with no slightest doubt of the reliability on either side. They weren't giving in to Communists, even though it might involve the turning of their guns on other Germans who have fallen victim of the Kremlin's regimentation.

But this regimentation, too, was a striking demonstration of the extent of the Soviet hold on the people as well as the territory of Eastern Germany.

It may be a hold maintained by force. There were many indications that this is true. There were desertions by members of the East German military police, and signs of dissatisfaction among the youth organization. Many of them had obviously been dragooned. But there were the Communist fanatics, too, and the traditional German love for a uniform and a military bearing.

The scene revived many memories of the Hitler youth rallies and of what followed.

The situation in Berlin remains unchanged, and the conduct of the cold war stands unaffected, if perhaps a bit more clearly outlined.

Russia probes for weak spots in the hope of expansion. The Allies counter with containment, and with the hope that defensive force will eventually give them time to win with economic measures. The failure of one probing operation does not mean that the Soviets will not keep it up. They want Berlin, just as they want the world. And in the war for one will be found the pattern for the other.

The big question remains. Are the so-called free German youth who paraded in Berlin Sunday the historical heirs of the German youth who paraded before Hitler such a few years ago? Will they eventually join their older brothers in the graves which mark the trail of aggression, from the Atlantic to the Volga?

Britons Enjoy Best Holiday Since 1939

LONDON, May 29 (Reuters).—Motorists streamed homeward tonight along Britain's highways after the biggest and best week-end joy ride they have had since before the war.

Freeing of gasoline from rationing on the eve of Whitsuntide, first public holiday of the British Summer, brought out almost as many cars for the week-end as road patrols remember from the "good old days" before the war.

Checks on the 14 main roads linking London with the coast and country recorded nearly 23,000 vehicles in an hour today, compared with 27,000 before the war.

Traffic on some roads to the South Coast was as heavy as before the war. A nose-to-tail line of cars 2½ miles long piled up at one point of the London-Worthing route to the South Coast through Dorking, Surrey.

Emergency parking lots had to be improvised in the back streets of Brighton, Sussex, after all the sea-promenade space had been filled.

Fifty per cent of all Canadian households are equipped with telephones.

Israel to Pay U.N. Damages

TEL AVIV, Israel, May 28 (AP).—Israel said tonight she will pay $54,628 for damages in connection with the assassination of Count Folke Bernadotte. The United Nations Palestine mediator was killed in the Jewish-held sector of Jerusalem September 17, 1948.

The Government said in a press statement it is apologizing formally for the slaying of Bernadotte and pledging continued search for his killers.

U.N. Secretary-General Trygve Lie, in a letter to the Israeli Foreign Ministry, demanded damages for the funeral and other expenses resulting from Bernadotte's death.

Addresses Three Meetings

Expert Sees Great Need For Planned Recreation

Community planning for recreation, problems facing workers in planning recreation for teen-agers, and the job playground workers must do were topics discussed by Dr. Alan Kieto during three separate meetings here yesterday.

The discussions were part of a five-day program to Victoria arranged by the recreation division of the Canadian Welfare Council

"Recreation is not just a program for the youth of the community," said Dr. Klein, "nor is it entirely a sports program.

"It is an all-year-round program which has to be returned to a creative basis. People have to do things for themselves and not rely upon others."

Dr. Kirin explained recreation had become more and more a basic need because people have more leisure time and don't know what to do with it.

"Two world wars, a depression, and the current swing towards another world conflict has done much to the maladjustment of our teen-agers," Dr. Klein explained

"We cannot teach one thing and practise another," he said.

He made several recommendations to the churches, schools and police on how to handle the present-day teen-ager. It was the opinion that more time should be spent on the emotional problems instead of the intellectual problems.

A playground worker must let the teen-ager have his own way and still control him so that he doesn't get out of hand, Dr. Klein said

"The teen-ager cannot operate any program alone, although he wants to: and an adult cannot hold the youth's interest without his co-operation," said Dr. Klein. "This is the middle ground the playground or recreation worker must use."

Dr Klein is well versed in the problems facing the recreation worker. He has had considerable practical and academic experience in recreation and youth work in Canada, the United States and overseas during the war. He is presently associated with Toronto's efforts to study and treat juvenile delinquency problems.

Today, Dr Klein will address three more meetings. The first is at 10 a.m. at the Boy Scouts Building, 1034 Johnson Street, where he will speak on "Relation of Private Agencies to Community Recreation"

He will speak again at 3 30 p.m. at the Boy Scouts Hall, and at 7 30 p.m. at the Memorial Hall

Saanich Secession Votes June 10 Could End Contention That Has Kept Municipality Divided Ever Since 1909

By GORDON FORBES

The contentious Saanich secession issue will undergo the most decisive action of its 41-year history.

Ratepayers on June 10 will go to the polls to vote on a plebiscite dealing with the secession of the areas formerly known as Wards Five and Six. The questions asked will be:

"Are you in favor of Ward Five being organized as a separate municipality?

"Are you in favor of Ward Six being organized as a separate municipality?"

Ward Five ratepayers must vote in one of the polling stations established to Ward Five. Ward Six ratepayers must vote in one of the polling stations established in Ward Six. Other ratepayers must vote in one of the polling stations established outside of Wards Five or Six.

A quick backward look over the secession issue presents a picture of continued conflict between the rural and urban areas of the large municipality.

Saanich was incorporated in 1906 and by 1909 the trouble already had developed into a big issue among the taxpayers. In that year a delegation of rural ratepayers waited upon the Provincial Government asking for secession. Since those early years two prominent efforts have been made by petition to the Government—one in 1928-29 and the present one in 1943-44.

The main reason for the move to secede has been the continuing difficulty to reconciling the conflicting interests of a rural and urban population being dealt with by the same municipal government. As the years have passed these differences have become more and more acute and at times acrimonious because of the increasing urban population to the areas close to Victoria.

SEEK URBAN SERVICES

The present urban population is continuing to strive for a variety of urban amenities such as sewers, sidewalks, better water services and better lighting. Rural area residents argue that they do not participate in these urban improvements except to guarantee the loans and to some cases share in the payment for administration.

They ask: "How can you reconcile the position of the farmer making a living from 60 acres and paying $400 annual taxes with a resident living to an urban ward on a 50-foot lot with a good home and paying only $75 a year?"

As a result of this situation the conflict between the urban and rural interests has been continuous with periodic flare-ups resulting in even more determined efforts by rural residents to separate.

FIRM BELIEF

It is the firm belief of many people in the rural areas, and some in the urban areas, the only solution to the problem is to separate these areas so each can conduct its municipal business as it sees fit.

An interesting point in the case of Ward Six is that the large rural ward has an area of 11,296 acres and a population of 2,000 whereas the whole of Saanich has 35,567 acres and a population of about 26 500. Ward Six comprises about one-third of the total acreage of Saanich.

Some members of the present Saanich council believe the secession issue is interfering with the progress of the municipality

In 1927 the Saanich Relief Act was placed on the statutes of the province This came after a Royal Commission under Judge Lampman investigated the municipality's difficulties. This was a definite assurance to the rural areas that in the future they would be protected in any effort to secede

STRUGGLE MAY END

The secessionists are firmly convinced the rural areas can operate as separate municipalities more economically than under the present system. If the secession plebiscite vote is in the affirmative and the Provincial Government decides to act (it does not have to) the long struggle will come to an end and the secessionists will have their chance to operate on their own.

The Ward Six secession petition a few years ago was signed by 26 per cent more than the required majority, but in the Ward Five area the figure was only about two per cent more than the required number. The hotbed of anti-secessionists always has been the Cordova Bay area. At present an anti-secession petition is being circulated by a group there. The anti-secessionists are complaining about being "kidnapped" in the secession movement.

Municipal officials are anticipating a brisk vote on the issue which has been linked with the name of Saanich almost since incorporation.

Restaurant Will Appeal End of Ban on Picketing

Notice of appeal against dissolution of an injunction restraining Hotel and Restaurant Employees Union, Local 459, from picketing Royal Dominion Dining-Room and Restaurant has been filed in Supreme Court.

The injunction, granted in Supreme Court, April 24, by Justice A D. Macfarlane, ended when Mr. Justice H S. Wood refused to renew it May 1.

The appeal will be heard during the present session of Appeal Court in Vancouver. Lloyd G. McKenzie represents the proprietors

Meanwhile, picketing over dismissal of two waitresses continues

In dissolving the injunction, Mr. Justice Wood said: "So far as I know there's nothing unlawful per se about picketing."

George F Gregory, counsel for the union at that time, cited statutes and cases to show it was legal for employees and others to "attend at the place aforesaid to obtain or communicate information."

Boy Hurt in Fall In Fair Condition

Condition of 12-year-old Alan Barber, a visitor from Oxbridge, Ont., injured in a fall Sunday, is only fair, according to Royal Jubilee Hospital officials.

The boy suffered a fractured skull when he fell from a cliff behind Six-Mile House on the Island Highway.

He had been staying at a nearby auto court. It is believed the youngster was playing on the cliff when a section gave way. Alan tumbled 60 feet.

WHAT HAVE "BEER PARLORS" done for Vancouver?

FOR TRANSPORTATION PHONE G 9339 B 4422

The Hotel men in Victoria paint an alluring picture of the wonderful benefits that would come to Victoria if we would only give them permission to open "Beer Parlors." But never once have they shown that these so-called "benefits" have actually materialized in ANY Beer Parlor city. The fact is that the people of Vancouver are sick beyond words of the conditions that prevail. The only people to benefit are those who reap the tremendous profits that come from the sale of Beer. Your Citizens' Committee on the other hand have no axe to grind—they are concerned only with the welfare of Victoria and ALL its people. We don't know who the many people would be who would get licences to sell Beer—but there would be many of them and THEY ONLY would benefit.

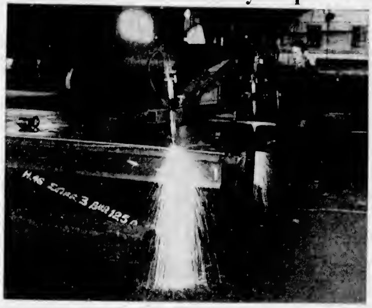
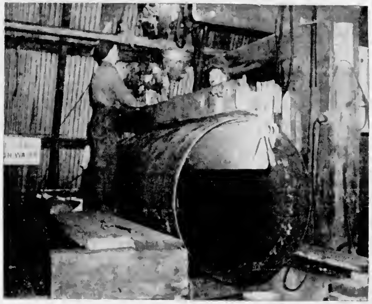
Victoria Machinery Depot Plant Shapes, Welds Steel Pipeline



Automatic oxygen-acetylene cutting unit is among equipment being used in new pipeline plant at Outer Wharf Plant of V.M.D., now producing pipeline for city. Steel plate-cutting equipment, a portion of which is pictured above, is capable of cutting four steel plates at one time. Operator is Al Woods.



—Colonist Photos by Bud Kinsman

Farther down mass production line is this radically new and efficient welding machine which can complete welding of eight-foot pipe section in less than three minutes. Unit is believed to be only one of its kind in British Columbia. Operating machine are C. C. Everstan at left, and M. L. Wedgewood at right.

At end of production line, completed 40-foot sections rest one against the other, awaiting truck delivery to destination. Looking over some of completed sections are, left to right: F. Knight, superintendent of plant; T. A. Kennedy, manager of engineering, and Harold Husband, president of V.M.D.

Production of Water Board Pipeline Makes Fascinating V.M.D. Operation

One of the largest and most efficient steel pipeline plants in North America is now in operation at the Outer Wharf plant of Victoria Machinery Depot Co. Ltd.

Located in and around one of the large sheds of the shipyard plant, the pipeline unit stretches over a distance of 800 feet, and incorporates mass production methods.

The first major project of this kind handled by the firm is the building of approximately seven miles of water main pipe for the City of Victoria. The pipe, being produced in eight-foot sections, is of 36, 39 and 48-inch diameter, and will be used to carry water from the Humpback Reservoir to Thetis Lake Road, and subsequently to the city.

BUILT IT THEMSELVES

The great pipeline plant was built almost entirely by personnel of the shipyard, with T. A. Kennedy, V.M.D.'s manager of engineering, playing a leading role. At every stage of the operation the word "automatic" can be applied. Superintendent of the new pipeline unit is F. Knight.

Among the more significant sections of the plant is an automatic oxygen-acetylene cutting machine which cuts out huge plates of steel four at a time. Only one man is required to operate this unit.

MASSIVE EQUIPMENT

Massive rollers roll the steel plates into pipe sections; a special structure is used to hold the rolled steel plates while weld "tacks" join the two edges; nearby a great automatic welder completes the seam, roing an eight-foot weld in less than three minutes.

Mr. Kennedy reports that approximately 60 eight-foot pipe sections can be produced daily.

About half-way through the plant the production process reaches the stage where five eight-foot sections are joined to form 40-foot pipe sections. These are welded together both inside and out.

The long pipe sections then undergo an extreme test in which water is forced into them with a 300 pounds' pressure per square inch. Any defect in welding is discovered immediately.

The pipe sections are next sandblasted inside and out before painting and coal-tar enameling. They are given a final inspection before being covered with heavy asbestos paper and rolled out of the plant, ready to be picked up and delivered by truck.

The V.M.D. firm is proud of its new pipeline unit, and hopes that additional work of this kind will be handled there soon.

BELFAST, May 29 (Reuters).—Four young Irishmen are en route across the Atlantic in a 12½-ton yacht, The Ituna which they bought for £150 ($465). They are going to be students of the Frank Lloyd Wright School of Architecture in Wisconsin. They will go by Dublin, Lisbon, Madeira, Canary Islands, Bermuda, New York, up the St Lawrence River to the Great Lakes. They set sail Saturday.

Investigations have shown that some Atlantic oysters tend to mature as males and later change to females.

June Traditional Month of Beautiful Brides

Groom, Best Man Share Duties During Weddings

Everyone at a wedding has a responsibility—even the bridegroom.

It is his job to select and secure the acceptance of the best man and ushers. He must secure the flowers for the bride, his future mother-in-law and his own mother and boutonierres for ushers, bride's father and his father

The wedding ring, licence and minister's fee are his responsibility but these are turned over to the best man for safe-keeping on the day of the wedding.

HELP SELECT GIFTS

He is expected to select gifts for the bride, best man and ushers and, with the bride-to-be, make up the wedding list.

Then he gets a break

Friends give him a bachelor dinner and he can relax for about 48 hours.

To the best man falls the responsibility of seeing that the groom arrives at the church on time, remembers that this is the day he is to be married and steady his sometimes shaken nerves.

He must be prepared to respond to the toast to the bridesmaids and, in some cases, toast them.

Looking after the going-away luggage of the bride and groom is another job with which he is entrusted. Any last-minute services that are needed usually get the attention of the best man.

Industry Pool Talks To Start in Mid-June

PARIS, May 29 (AP). — Actual talks on the pooling of Western Europe's wealth of coal and steel are due in Paris in mid-June, with at least five countries taking part, it has been learned. This is the scheme proposed May 9 by Foreign Minister Robert Schuman for merging the coal mines and steel mills of France and Germany into a common authority. Schuman, at the time, said other European countries would be welcome to join.

SUDBURY, Norfolk, England (CP). —A civil defence lecture here was a failure. Out of a population of 8,000 only one person turned up.

June Bride Time Near

Traditional month for orange blossoms and June brides is fast approaching. Pretty miss in photograph illustrates favorite attire for many altar-bound brides-to-be.

Germans Have Difficulty Gaining Day's Freedom

By GAULT MacGOWAN

LORRACH, Germany, May 29 (NANA) —I stood at a roadblock on the Swiss frontier, amid a line of men and women hopeful of leaving Germany for a day.

For hours they steamed past the control point in slow, pitiful motion while uniformed German officials scrutinised their exit papers with minute care as if loath to let them go; holding up the entire line sometimes while they telephoned to higher headquarters about a doubtful case.

"Politicians in Bonn are too busy organizing high posts for themselves in the new foreign service to worry about the woes of people who want to escape from Germany for a day." grumbled a worn and dispirited female.

ONLY ONE LIFT

A weary young man, next to me in the line, sat down on his ruck-sack. "I'm done," he said "I walked 20 miles to get here. I was hitchhiking. But the truck I was riding broke down in the night. I never got another lift."

There was a break in the official routine. A green-garbed official came out of a wooden hut with a long paper in his hands and began to read out a list of names like a schoolmaster.

People with smiling faces stepped out of line. They were the privileged pupils of the new democracy. The list was a magic pass for quick transit out of Germany. The lucky ones went through ahead of us all.

Near by us was a tearful young woman. She was explaining to a friend in line why she could not join her.

PERMITS LIMITED

"I arrived too late," she said. "All the permits were gone. They had only 1,000 to begin with!"

"The day will be done before we get to Basle at this rate," a woman said to her husband. "We have to pass the Swiss guards yet. It is 10 30 already!"

He reassured her. "The Swiss will let us through quickly. Don't worry. The problem is only to get out of Germany."

The magnet for the day was the Swiss industries fair at Basle, just across the frontier. The French, occupying the frontier area, had eased regulations to let the people go.

"I got my permit in three days," said a boy with a bicycle. "You are lucky you only wished to go for a day," said an older man. "Had you wanted to go for a month, it would have taken you three months—so many regulations!"

When my turn came, I was told my passport was no good here. I was directed to a French-controlled post five miles away. When I got there, I was through the frontier in no time. I was glad I was not a German.

BASLE PACKED

Basle, itself, was sardine-packed with visitors and parked automobiles. Footsore and weary Germans trudged in from Lorrach throughout the day and were lost in the crowds.

Two years ago they handled German visitors to the fair differently. Allied economic officials brought them in under a politely veiled escort, and paraded them around the fair. They walked stiffly, self-consciously, dressed in starched-collared, formal attire. Swiss and visitors from other nations gaped at them in amazement. They returned the stares arrogantly, defiantly.

But today the Germans, filtering in from Lorrach, no longer stood out in the crowd. They were lost in the sea of buyers and window-shoppers from all nations. No one stared at them.

When I returned at night to my hotel here to write this dispatch, some of them were drifting back: footsore but happy. They had found their freedom for a day.

How It Started

By JEAN NEWTON

"VIRAGO"—The Unwomanly Woman

"To arms! To arms! the fierce virago cries."—Alexander Pope.

"Virago—serpent under femininity."—Chaucer.

Here two poets give their own individual idea of the meaning of the word "virago." And each touches on only one aspect of what it means to us today.

The fierce virago of Pope, the woman calling "To arms!" might as well be termed an Amazon, in allusion to the fabulous race of women warriors, but this would still not meet our conception of a virago. "Amazon" connotes an unwomanly woman, to be sure—the big, strong mannish warrior—but without the hateful implications, the shrewishness of the "virago."

Chaucer, on the other hand, with his "serpent under femininity," brings out the poison but neglects the mannishness of the true "virago!"

"Virago" derives from the Latin "virago," which goes back to "vir-" men. Thus essentially it is the exceptional physical stature—the manly build—of the fighting woman that is at the core of this word. And in its origin the idea of manly strength and courage was doubtless included, as it still survives in "amazon."

Perhaps men's taste in women is reflected in the corruption of "virago" from its essential mannishness or fighting qualities to the concept of the termagant and the vixen.

PARSON TAKES TRACTOR

NOEL, N.S. (CP) —When muddy roads held up highway traffic here, Rev. A. G. MacLeod commandeered a local tractor and bumped off to preach at Lower Selma, seven miles away. The same evening he traveled a further four miles by tractor to reach North Noel.

Traditional Customs Surround Marriages

Weddings customs throughout the world vary like the colors in a rainbow but in Anglo-Saxon countries the following are good guides to follow.

The wedding toast to the bride may be made by the minister or family friend, responded to by the groom.

To the bridesmaids, it is made by the groom and responded to by the best man or head usher. A family friend may toast the bride's mother with the response by the bride's father. A toast to the groom's mother is made by a family friend and the groom's father responds.

Bouquets for the bride and bridesmaids should be sent to the home of the bride, while boutonnieres for the groom, best man and ushers should be sent to the vestibule of the church. After the wedding, the bride may throw her bouquet to her attendants as she leaves to change into traveling clothes. Legend has it that the lucky girl who catches it will be the next one to wed.

More modern is the custom of presenting the bouquet to the bride's mother or grandmother, to put it on the grave of a parent, or to fashion small bouquets from it for close friends.

Wedding anniversaries are important things to remember.

The first-year present is traditionally paper, second year cotton, third, muslin, and for each year until the fifteenth anniversary, the following presents are in order.

Silk, wood, iron, copper, bronze, pottery, tin, steel, linen, lace, ivory, and for the 15th anniversary tradition calls for crystal.

As the years increase in importance so do the anniversary gifts.

China is tradition for the 20th anniversary; silver for the 25th, pearl for 30 years of marriage, coral five years later. Ruby marks the 40th year while the 45th is recorded by sapphire. Fifty years married calls for gifts of gold, five years later emerald. Diamonds are for the 60th anniversary and like gifts for 75 years of marriage.

The tradition of June weddings is more dependent on the pleasant weather in that month than on any other reason.

Wedding specialists do admit, however, that their heaviest bookings are usually in June, although most Summer months find more brides and grooms altar-bound than do the cooler weather periods.

Long-Range Timetable for June Brides Aids in Smooth Handling of Wedding Day

One of the handiest things ever tovsoted for a girl all set to be married is a bride's calendar.

It catalogues some of the more important points to be remembered before the big day. For instance, it sets out the things to do three months before the wedding date.

First, settle on the type of wedding that you want—formal or informal, at church or at home. Set the date and be sure to consult the clergyman to be certain that he will be free on the date you have planned. Decide what decorations and music are needed. Consider, with the groom-to-be, whom you want as attendants and secure their acceptance

LIST IMPORTANT

A list of wedding guests and lists for announcements are important at this time as well. Make arrangements about the place for the reception, catering, wedding cake, decorations, flowers and music.

One month later, invitations and announcements should be definitely decided upon, and cards and paper for thank-you notes should not be forgotten.

Choice of wedding gown—bridal white or suit—and the dress for your attendants must be considered at this time also.

SELECT GIFTS

Pre-wedding social activities should be arranged two to four weeks ahead of the actual wedding in order to avoid a last-minute rush.

One month before the date set for the wedding, an engagement announcement should be put in the papers and wedding invitations mailed out three weeks in advance.

Gifts for your attendants should be selected at this time. It is usual to present these at a luncheon or night of rehearsal. Also remember to make a record of all wedding gifts as they come in and acknowledge them at the time. Accommodations for out-of-town guests should be arranged also.

In the last week before the ceremony, it's a good idea to check linen and kitchen needs in case of necessary last-minute additions. Now is a good time to start packing for the honeymoon.

Wedding announcements should be mailed out after the ceremony Flowers for the bride and attendants should be delivered in time for photographs before the wedding

Complete arrangements save valuable time and aid the bride-to-be in making sure that the wedding day is not only the most important time in her life but also one of the easiest to handle

Wild Animal Market Booms After Eight Years' Dullness

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 29 (NANA).—Latest report on the wild animal market: It's active again after eight years in the doldrums; things are booming all the way from Bangkok to Zimbabwe

William T A Cully, director of the Swope Park Zoo and a member of the express and transportation committee of the American Institute of Zoological Parks and Aquariums, had word a few days ago that Mrs. Genevieve Cuprys was departing the Malayan States for New York with six baby elephants aboard a plane. These could be had at a price of $3,500 each, f.o.b. New York, Mr Cully was advised.

Mr. Cully has a recent letter from the zoo at Wassenaar, The Netherlands, interested in getting hold of some chipmunks, prairie dogs, bluejays, and a bay lynx. It is offering swans, ducks and geese in trade.

GIRAFFE, $4,000

Trefflich & Co. New York, has a new price list, just out, stating that it is pleased to offer again, now that the situation has cleared up, zebras (three species), hippos, rhinos, antelopes, African buffaloes, a giraffe (14 feet tall and can be ridden bareback), Nubian lions, South American giant anteaters and kangaroos. Trefflich is holding out for a fancy price on the giraffe, now that the firm has gone to the trouble of educating the animal to accept bareback riders. Asking price is $4 000

Warren Buck, no relation to the late Frank Buck) dropped by the Swope Park Zoo last month and told Mr. Cully that he again had available any animal anyone could possibly desire, with the possible exception of the aardvark

Aardvark, by the way, is a most unhandsome animal, susceptible to all manner of diseases once it is placed in captivity. That is why so few of them are pressed into zoo service.

SWAPS SOUGHT

It is surprising to learn from Mr Cully that zoo directors are just like horse-traders. They're always calling one another up around the country and offering a swap, each man, of course hoping to come out with a little cash boot on the side

Just now Mr. Cully is working on a deal to swap off three guanacos, seven aoudads, two tahrs, five European red deer, two Sika deer, three white fallow deer and two spotted deer He is a trifle overloaded on deer just at this time. He's attempting to unload this surplus in exchange for a female zebra, a female ostrich, a female rhea, a dozen small monkeys of both sexes, and a little cash on the side.

The last good trade he worked out was with Warren Buck He traded, even up, a pair of young guanacos (a kind of antelope) for a terrifically big galapagos tortoise. The tortoise was valued at $500, and Mr. Cully believes he got the better of the trade even though Warren Buck is a wise old head, who has made 26 expeditions to Africa.

WELL STOCKED

Word was received from Mexico City a few days ago, by airmail, that a fine collection of birds had been assembled there and were available These included Mexican cardinals, grosbeaks, indigo buntings, lazuli buntings, olive finch and honey creepers Mr. Cully replied he definitely was not interested, being very well stocked on birds at the moment.

If Mr. Cully had his druthers he would druther have a pair of giraffes Also, he is badly in need of a male dromedary (he has a female) and a female camel (he has a male). He also would like to have a male hippo, since the present hippo, Cleo, is 25 years old and still a bachelor girl.

MOST EXPENSIVE

If one could be afforded, Mr. Cully would like to have a rhino. A rhino is the most expensive wild animal there is. A good rhino will run $8 000 to $10,000, f.o.b

When Mr. Cully took over as director of the zoo he found 21 elk on hand. There were too many elk for the available grass. Mr. Cully went to work trading them off. He's down to just a pair now. He believes two is plenty.

Says Session To Be Crucial

BAGUIO, P.I., May 29 (INS).—United Nations Assembly President Carlos P. Romulo has stated he agrees with the opinion of U.N. Secretary General Trygve Lie that the December session of the U.N. General Assembly will be a "crucial" one

The Philippine foreign secretary also praised Lie's mission to Moscow as "a wonderful job"

Romulo declared that Lie's peacemaking efforts "deserve the prayers of peace-loving peoples everywhere" He said the U.N. secretary "should be encouraged to continue."

Keen Campaign Started By Turkish Politicians

Special to The Colonist

ISTANBUL, May 29 — Political activity in Turkey these days is centred around the general election to be held on May 14.

There are 486 seats to be filled in the National Assembly, one for every 40,000 of population, 21 more than at the last general elections, in 1946, when the population was lower.

Election campaigns have been launched by the major Turkish political parties, and by independent candidates. The various constituencies are being contested between candidates of the Republican People's Party (now in office), the Democratic Party (leading Opposition group), and the Nation Party, smaller Opposition group).

KEEN INTEREST

Not only in the main metropolitan districts but also in all corners of even the most remote provinces, there is a keen interest in the elections In the provinces, many outstanding citizens such as lawyers, doctors and other members of the professional and intellectual classes, are seeking election to Parliament on the Republican or Democratic ticket. Mayors of several important cities including Ankara, Izmir and Konya, have resigned to accept nominations by the Republican Party.

President Ismet Inonu is in the midst of a strenuous campaign that is taking him to every corner of the Provinces of Ankara and Malatya, the two constituencies where he stands for re-election.

His speeches have stressed the importance of continued bipartisan unity on foreign policy, and of national security, which he described as Turkey's most important problem today.

"We shall remain faithful to our present foreign policy, which is approved by our friends and allies," he said. "We have no designs on territory outside our own national boundaries, but our own rights and territorial integrity will be defended with our life."

Celal Bayar, leader of the Opposition Democratic Party, is seeking renomination to the National Assembly from Instanbul Province. He has been addressing most of his speeches to the workers, promising to fight for a lower cost of living and for the abolition of anti-strike legislation. Bayar also criticizes the choice of an election date, saying that it should have been set for two or three weeks later than May 14 (which was mandatory, being the first Sunday after a compulsory lapse of 45 days from the time the old Parliament dissolved itself on March 24)

Hikmet Bayur, leader of the Nation Party, extremist Opposition group, has so far contented himself with criticizing and attacking Republicans and Democrats alike

Eastern United States Slowly Grows Warmer

WASHINGTON, May 29 —The Eastern United States has been getting warmer and warmer each year for the last 100 years.

This was reported to the American Meteorological Society here after exhaustive statistical analyses of the temperature records of Washington and Boston

The net average annual increase has been between 3 and 4 degrees Fahrenheit, according to reports of R. T. Zoch, Government meteorologist, and John H. Conover, of Harvard. The findings give little support to old-timers who talk about old-fashioned Winters, but they indicate a gradual shift in the type of climate

MISLEADING

Superficial analysis of temperature statistics may be very misleading, it was explained. Early records were not very complete or accurate Temperatures change slightly with the growth of communities with high buildings, factory chimneys and the like.

Zoch divided each year since 1862 into ten periods, representing all possible seasonal influences. For each of these periods he found the same small—but steady and progressive—increase in average annual temperature

Dr Conover used the records of both Harvard's Blue Hill Observatory and Massachusetts Tech. The former, he believes, is far enough from Boston to eliminate the influence of the growing city.

MUCH ALIKE

The figures in both cases came out very much alike Zoch found that the temperature of Boston has gone up 3.5 degrees Fahrenheit. Conover found the temperatures in the neighborhood of Boston up about 4 degrees.

During the 100 years analyzed, both men pointed out, there have been exceptionally cold years and exceptionally hot ones. There may even have been temperature cycles within a major cycle. In a century, however, these would largely disappear in the statistics, and the trend for the whole period becomes apparent.

There is some indication, Conover said, that there is a slow shift toward a "maritime climate" with the influence of the ocean over weather more pronounced than that of the continent over weather

Many Farmers Go to Congo

NEW YORK, May 29 (NANA)—European farmers are flocking to the Belgian Congo, according to the Brussels daily, Le Phare, now that the administration of that African colony has opened the salubrious hill country to settlers.

The years 1946, 1947 and 1948 saw 1,450 Belgian families settling in the Congo. Now the rate is increasing sharply, with the opening of farmland near the Northern Rhodesia border, one purpose of which is to insure fresh food for the workers in the copper and uranium mines of the high Katanga region

Hail Display By New Plane

TORONTO, May 29 (CP) —The Canada-United States Joint Defence Board have watched Canada's Avro CF-100 jet fighter in action. They said they liked what they saw

The big black $4,000,000 fighter—hailed as the world's most powerful—gave an impressive display of speed and manoeuvrability above suburban Malton Airport.

But it wasn't only its speed—rated in excess of 600 miles an hour—which impressed. Naval observers among some 30 of the experts entrusted with the defence of North America watched it fly by at 110 miles an hour and tagged it as a good carrier aircraft.

Ten CF-100's are said to be in production.

Chope will give a pottery demonstration at 2.30 and members are asked to take part in a decorated table display. The hostesses for the afternoon will be Mrs. F. W. Bridge, Mrs. J. E. I.O.D.E. Spends $214,275 On Postwar Services

MONTREAL, May 29 (CP).—European relief and monthly food parcels to British families are only a part of I.O.D.E. postwar services which last year totaled in value more than $214,275.

This sum was $62,199 below the figure for the previous year. However, Mrs. K. I. G. Drope of Toronto told the Order's 50th annual meeting that it amounted to an average donation of about $225 for each of the Order's 920 chapters.

In her report as I.O.D.E. convener of postwar services, Mrs. Drope said the need for overseas help still existed. Children in many European countries would need care for some years. While life in Great Britain had improved, people were still rationed on many of the health-giving foods.

The British Save the Children Fund and the British Red Cross Society worked for the Order in many European countries during 1949. Through them I.O.D.E. supplies were shipped to the British zone in Germany, to France, Italy, Greece and just recently to Syria.

"It is impossible for us to realize the great need in Europe," said Mrs. Drope. "Very few visitors to these countries see the distress among the children, millions of whom are orphans, crippled, blind and diseased. . . ."

The Order should do more for these future citizens of the world she said.

During the year the I.O.D.E. sent to Europe a total of $41,794 in clothing and other needed items. This total included used clothing valued at $21,903 and new clothing, bedding, toys and nursery bags valued at $18,890.

Langford P.-T.A. will hold a games night in the Community Hall Friday, June 2, at 7.30 p.m. Games and contests have been planned and refreshments will be served. All proceeds will go to the sale of votes for Marilyn Clarke, candidate in the queen contest.

Bride Wears Blue Silk

NANAIMO, May 29.—St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church was the scene of a pretty wedding last week when Rev. A. J. Donnell united in marriage Mary Patterson MacDonald, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. McDougall, 310 Victoria Road, and John Stanley Wythe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil E. Wythe, 2455 Hamiota Street, Victoria.

The bride was attired in an afternoon dress of blue silk crepe. Her accessories were in brown and beige. A corsage of talisman roses and lily of the valley completed her ensemble.

Her only attendant was Miss Jessie Mitchell who wore a dress of grey frosted crepe with navy blue accessories. Her corsage was of carnations and white stephanotis.

Maurice Ridgewey was the best man.

Following the quiet ceremony a reception was held at the Plaza Hotel where the guests were received by Mr. and Mrs. McDougall and Mr. and Mrs. Wythe. Mrs. McDougall chose for the occasion a dress of navy with white accessories. Mrs. Wythe was in flowered silk with navy accessories.

For the honeymoon trip to Edmonton via the United States, the bride wore a gabardine suit of brown with cocoa accessories.

Cards Welcome New Canadians

MONTREAL, May 29 (CP).—Some 2,300 New Canadians this year received the royal blue and gold-bordered "welcome" cards which the I.O.D.E. gives all foreign-born upon naturalization.

Daisy Taylor of Ottawa today told the I.O.D.E. annual meeting that about 2,300 of the cards were presented in 1949.

For the last 26 years these cards have been the official greeting which the Order extends to all New Canadians.

In her report as I.O.D.E. convener of immigration and Canadianization, Miss Taylor said that immigration in Canada during 1949 totaled 95,200 persons, 24 per cent less than in 1948. Greatest decrease was in the number of British immigrants which dropped 50 per cent.

She reported 4,000 Canadians returned from the United States during the year.

Tea Gains in Popularity

OTTAWA, May 29 (CP). Tea and coffee appear to be battling for supremacy in the kitchen cupboard Judging from the latest production figures, tea appears to be gaining in popularity.

The Bureau of Statistics reported today that in the first three months of the year Canada's roasted coffee output totaled 14,315,243 pounds, the lowest quarterly production in two years. This was 2,907,616 pounds below the corresponding period last year. Output of blended and packaged tea rose to 10,062,702 pounds from 8,512,012 in the first quarter of 1949.

The bureau did not comment on the figures but a Trade Department official suggested that the increase in the price of coffee might be one explanation.

Tea goes farther than coffee The increased tea production suggests that the housewife finds tea at approximately $1.06 a pound a more economical buy. Coffee now sells in Ottawa at around 67 cents a pound, an increase of almost 30 cents over the price at this time last year.

Judging from figures in the bureau's quarterly report on processed foods, the housewife is leaning more heavily on her trusty can-opener than a year ago

During the quarter 16,864,660 pounds of baked beans were produced against 16,699,016 in the first three months of 1949 Pickles and relishes totaled 1,240,215 gallons against 811,997 canned meat 8,942,122 pounds against 8,231,994

Port Exhibit Appropriate

Canada has been linked to the port of Bristol for more than 450 years. It was from Bristol on May 2, 1497, that John Cabot, in a Bristol ship the Matthew, manned by Bristol men, led the first expedition across the Atlantic, and eight weeks later made landfall off the coast of Newfoundland.

So it is appropriate that Bristol should be the first British port ever to exhibit at the Canadian International Trade Fair, in Toronto (from May 29 to June 9). The exhibit will consist of a model of Avonmouth Docks, made up of nearly 1,000,000 pieces and a large photographic stand showing the activities and facilities available at the port. Canada's trade with the port (nearly 600,000 tons last year) is particularly featured.

Incidentally, the port record for discharge of grain was established with a cargo of Canadian wheat—6,376 tons in two days.

"Silent Guest" Plan Provides Food For Crippled and Orphans in Europe

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK, May 29 (INS)—When movie starlet Iris Gabriel decided to trade in her glamour for gumption, she suddenly inherited 30,000 children.

And she's seeing that they—the armless, legless or fatherless war victims of Europe—get a few breaks.

The children are her blood by virtue of the "silent guest" plan which she dreamed up and pushed through in the Autumn of 1947 It's the now-famous system by which American families are asked to set an extra place at their tables for festive days, then mail the price of the "silent guest's" meal for distribution to tykes abroad.

RAISE $150,000

She said today, her photogenic smile broadening. "I just collected enough to pass the $150,000 mark Would you believe it, even men out on binges send me the price of the "silent guest's" highballs.

"My youngsters can drink a lot of milk on that Scotch money!"

Miss Gabriel lives and works now in a sunny tudor city apartment in midtown Manhattan where's she's really contented and comfortable for the first time in her 40-odd years.

The first 35 years were the hardest. They were peppered with disappointments and bogged down by four years of sedentary hopelessness in charity wards of tuberculosis hospitals.

"By 1946" she says, "I was reduced to one big zero. I had lived too long looking for glamour. I didn't want to be a dogooder. I didn't want to have a great cause. I just wanted to untangle my life"

Miss Gabriel, with her striking blonde hair, her winning smile and her yearning to "make peace" for herself as well as the world, traveled to a prayer retreat in Great Barrington, Mass.

THANKSGIVING PLAN

There she conceived her unique "silent guest" idea, and took it to Governor Bradford of Massachusetts. On Labor Day of 1947, he contacted the 47 other United States governors, and in their thanksgiving proclamations that year, each of them asked his citizens to cut in the "silent guest" on the holiday doings.

"The plan worked beautifully," Miss Gabriel recalls. "By Christmas, 1947, I had almost $100,000 worth of food being distributed throughout the world by 'Care'"

Proof of her success came home to Miss Gabriel in January, 1946 when Wendell Willkie's "One World" award committee asked her to tour Europe in place of the late New York Mayor Fiorello H LaGuardia, who had won "One World's" 1947 award.

She traveled For four months, she toured 18 countries, visiting the children she was helping She came home, "completely on fire to do more"

DEDICATED TO PEACE

"I can feel for those children," she says, "because I've seen hundreds of kids die I've almost died twice myself . "

Both times were in TB sanitariums. Miss Gabriel was born on a cotton plantation, the oldest of 11 children of a hard-working farm wife and a Georgia planter who went broke and alcoholic when she was in her teens.

She worked as a domestic to put herself through high school, and when she took two beauty contests with her 16-year-old, Brunnhilde-type beauty, she left home.

First stop was Hollywood, where she was simultaneously hit by an automobile and frustration. The auto crushed her chest, puncturing a lung. And the frustration turned the crushed chest into an incipient TB condition which has caused her to spend a couple of two-year stretches in hospital charity wards.

"The first night I was ever in a sanitarium ward," she remembers, "I saw three youngsters die. "I've watched them, it seems, ever since."

Even after her discharge from the hospital, Miss Gabriel went on looking for Hollywood jobs, because there seemed nothing else to do. Then the atom bomb was dropped, and she suddenly "woke up mentally."

She says, "when I realized we, the most peace-loving nation on earth, had done the biggest destructive job in history, I had to face the crisis. I'd been glamour-conscious till then. I just forgot the glamour and became conscious.

"Like a lot of others, I solemnly dedicated my life to peace."

Management Group Leader Visits City

W. Miller Bennett, new president of National Office Management Association, making first official tour of continent, lunched with members of Victoria chapter yesterday, after attending national conference in Cleveland and Area 12 meeting in Vancouver. Officers of Victoria group are shown above with Mr. Bennett. Left to right are Dick A. Blakey, Victoria secretary, Ralph W. Purves, vice-president, Mr. Bennett, Oliver M. Prentice, president, and Ernest Harrison, past president.

This May is Not "Wop" May

Pilot of Britain's Flood Relief Plane Leaves Victoria Today for Return Trip

Stratocruiser pilot Capt. Bill May flew into a lot of confusion when he touched his Britain-to-Winnipeg relief ship down at Stevenson Field in the Prairie capital.

He's getting used to it, though. It has been going on for years.

To clear up the record, Capt. William May is no relation to famed bush pilot W. R. "Wop" May — but he's been a bush pilot for five years. His initials, W. S., are nearly alike, and people all across the country have been confusing the two. They even look alike.

They both started in the rough and ready school of flying back in the old days, and both graduated to commercial flying.

MIXED UP IN WAR

"I've met "Wop" and, during the war, people were always getting us mixed," said the friendly, good-natured British Overseas Airways flyer, here in Victoria to attend the funeral of his mother yesterday. "Wop" May is with Canadian Pacific Airlines.

Capt. May received the news of his mother's death minutes before take-off time in London, and a second captain left on the flight with Capt. May to take the giant aircraft back to England after the initial flood relief flight.

Capt. May started flying in his home town of Winnipeg in 1928. He eventually became senior instructor with British Airways. He has been with them for the past 15 years.

SEES SECOND FLIGHT

When he joined the company, it was known as Imperial Airways. In 1939, it amalgamated with another commercial line to become British Overseas Airways Company.

He predicts a possible second relief flight to flooded Winnipeg to the near future with more supplies from Britain. The bulk of the supplies, however, will travel by boat. Farm machinery and cattle may be included to the cargo.

"Response to the appeal for funds was tremendous in England," Capt. May said.

"Most of the money was raised in two days and a central pool bought the necessary relief supplies. Many Britons were in Winnipeg during the war and others have relatives there so it made the appeal a family affair," he said.

"The size of England made it an easy matter to co-ordinate collection of the fund. Response was almost instantaneous."

WAS BUSH FLIER

Capt. May figures that he was chosen for the inagural relief flight because he was born and educated in Winnipeg.

Before he left for England in 1935, he did some bush flying in Northern Ontario but went overseas because commercial flying was not then an established thing in Canada. He has flown throughout the world since his B.O.A.C. start.

Capt. May foresees the possible use of jet commercial airliners by the British company to 1952 on routes to Australia and South America.

"Britain is well ahead of the world in the manufacture of jet-propelled planes. They will make a big difference once they are brought into use," he said.

Capt. William S. May leaves for New York today and then goes on to England.

City Manager Choice Wise, Says Mooney

George S. Mooney, of Montreal, to a letter received yesterday by Mayor Percy George stated the City Council had made "a wise choice" in selecting Cecil C. Wyatt as city manager.

Mr. Mooney was the No. 1 choice of management engineers Stevenson & Kellogg for the new civic post. He was flown to Victoria by the Council to be personally interviewed, then later refused the Council's offer.

In his letter Mr. Mooney stated he stood ready to supply any assistance which could possibly be required to the city manager, the mayor and members of the City Council.

With regard to Victoria's city manager, Mr. Mooney declared:

"He certanly bears my best wishes and I shall write him in due course and shall offer him my sincerest respects."

After Investigation

Esquimalt May Launch Own Flood Relief Fund

Esquimalt Council may take steps to start a flood fund for stricken Manitoba.

After discussing the subject at a meeting last night, council asked Reeve A. I. Thomas to determine whether the Victoria campaign is merely for Victoria or takes in all municipalities.

If the reeve finds out the city fund is primarily for Victoria proper, it is likely a fund will be inaugurated in Esquimalt.

Greenwood Avenue residents petitioned the council for oiling and maintenance of their street. The petitioners pointed out that properties on the street had been yielding taxes for 15 years.

The group will be informed their request will be attended to "if at all possible."

PRAISES GARBAGE WORKERS

Councillor A. C. Wurtele explained that the council was not calling for tenders for garbage collection because the present system was no good. He felt Esquimalt had the best garbage collection service in Greater Victoria. The tenders, he added, will show if collections could be made cheaper under contract.

Model Airplane League Events Won by Payne, Rittich, Gelling

Alan Payne took top honors in the towline glider class event, sponsored by the Victoria Model Airplane League, at Lansdowne Field on Sunday. William Gelling was second.

Andy Rittich won first place in the hand-launched glider event with a near record of three minutes 44 seconds. Brian Ramsey took second.

William Gelling took three firsts, one second and one third for a total of 36 points. He is now second to the junior point competition with a total of 77. Andy Rittich is top man with 96 points. Alan Payne is third with 80 points.

DOUGLAS LEADS

In senior competition Ian Douglas leads with 65 points. Jack Parks is second, and John MacKay, third. Don Harvey leads the open class and Rod McLeod holds second position.

Members of the club will enter a competition to be held to Vancouver on June 11. The event is sponsored by The Vancouver Sun newspaper. Next local point-meet will be held at Lansdowne Field June 25.

Minstrel Show To Swell Fund

A benefit show, the "Cotton-Pickin' Minstrels of 1950" will be held Friday in the Christ Church Memorial Hall starting at 8:15 p.m.

The show, presented by the Anglican Young People's Association of Christ Church Cathedral, is in aid of the Manitoba Flood Relief Fund.

All donations received at the door, as well as the proceeds from candy sold by the Junior A.Y.P.A., will go towards the fund.

The two-hour program is packed with jokes, songs and dances. The five minstrels are supported by a chorus of 17, who will be singing many old favorites, including "Old Man River" and "Swannee."

GIVES WIFE ADVICE

"Do you mind a mere male having something to say about washdays? My wife keeps my shirts sparkling white, which is important in my business. She tells me the secret is Reckitt's Blue, which prevents clothes turning yellow. She takes no chances with anything that may damage fabric. Just a swish or two of Reckitt's Blue in the final rinse is all there is to it. The fact that Reckitt's Blue costs only a few pennies a month makes sense to me, too."

Parks Official Exposes Fraud

A racket which has found its mark among the city's garden lovers was exposed yesterday by Parks Administrator W. H. Warren.

He said a man who has practised landscaping in the city for many years has recently been posing as a tree doctor.

In one instance the man noted the poor condition of a Monterey cypress hedge which had been badly damaged during the Winter. The man told the owner of the hedge he could bring it back to life through the use of a spray. He charged $14 for the job.

Mr. Warren emphasized that it is impossible to restore life to any Monterey cypress hedge which has been severely damaged by Winter frosts.

He warned citizens against the practices of such persons.

Reid Fund At $2,700

Donations for the Reid Fund continue to pour in to Saanich Municipal Hall.

Municipal Clerk John B. Tribe reported a total of approximately $2,700 yesterday. A canvass at McKenzie Street School, which the older Reid children attend, collected $80.62.

The fund is being collected to help rehabilitate Raymond Reid and his two surviving children following the disastrous fire that took the lives of his wife and three children early in the month.

VANCOUVER, May 29 (CP).—Twelve motorists took advantage of the Kinsmen Club's free ride service for drivers who had "too much" to drink at week-end parties. A call to a central office brought a taxi driver who locked the motorist's car and put a note in his pocket telling him where his car was parked. He was then given a free ride home.

Wholesalers Predict Gradual Rise In Prices of Eggs, Pork Products

Victoria housewives will have to sit back this week and watch the price of pork start a gradual rise.

The price was expected to jump yesterday but remained stable in most retail stores while dealers used up stocks ordered last week at lower prices.

GLOOMY PICTURE

Manager of Canada Packers, Limited, said yesterday that the firm's prices were up two cents a pound on nearly all pork products. He anticipated a further increase of two cents later in the week.

"I don't know where it is going to end," he said.

Adding to the already gloomy picture, he said the price of beef jumped one cent.

The manager thought the prices would continue to rise until the public just "refused to buy any more meat."

Cost of eggs is also expected to start a gradual rise in the next few weeks according to wholesale firms.

The expected rise is only partially seasonal and is attributed mainly to the decrease in production during the Summer months. However, other factors enter into the loss of production.

Producers reduced the sizes of their flocks last year with the loss of English contracts.

It is costing the farmer more to feed the birds, and the increase in freight rates has further aggravated the situation.

For these reasons Vancouver and Vancouver Island residents pay six cents more for a dozen eggs than people living in other parts of Canada. And the producer gets more.

Italy Considering Recognition of Reds

ROME, May 29 (AP).—Foreign Minister Count Carlo Sforza informed Senate officials that Italy is considering recognizing Communist China. Sforza said: "The Italian Government, considering that the present regime in China under Mao Tse-Tung's control has all the elements of stability could recognize it to defend (Italy's) interests and Italy's missions there."

A Murder Is Announced

By AGATHA CHRISTIE

Copyright 1950, by Agatha Christie Mallowan

"Now let's get this straight. You really believe that this young man came out here—having previously arranged by means of an advertisement that half the village would turn up agog—at that particular time—"

"But he mayn't have meant that to happen," interrupted Miss Bunner eagerly. "It may have been just a horrid sort of warning—to you, Letty—that's how I read it at the time—'A murder is announced'—I felt in my bones that it was sinister—if it had all gone as planned he would have shot you and got away—and how would anyone ever known who it was?"

"That's true enough," said Miss Blacklock. "But—"

"I knew that advertisement wasn't a joke, Letty. I said so. And look at Mitzi—she was frightened, too!"

"Ah," said Craddock, "Mitzi. I'd like to know rather more about that young woman."

"Her permit and papers are quite in order."

"I don't doubt that," said Craddock drily. "Scherz's papers appeared to be quite correct, too."

"But why should this Rudi Scherz want to muredr me? That's what you don't attempt to explain, Inspector Craddock."

"There may have been someone behind Scherz," said Craddock slowly. "Have you thought of that?"

He used the words metaphorically though it flashed across his mind that if Miss Marple's theory was correct, the words would also be true in a literal sense. In any case they made little impression on Miss Blacklock who still looked sceptical.

"The point remains the same," he said. "Why on earth should anyone want to murder me?"

"It's the answer to that that I want you to give me, Miss Blacklock."

"Well, I can't! That's flat. I've no enemies. As far as I'm aware I've always lived on perfectly good terms with my neighbors. I don't know any guilty secrets about anyone. The whole idea is ridiculous! And if what you're hinting is that Mitzi has something to do with this, that's absurd too."

"If Mitzi had taken an unreasoning dislike to me, she might conceivably poison my food, but I'm sure she wouldn't go in for all this elaborate rigmarole. Mitzi may be a liar but she's not a cold-blooded murderer. Go and bully her if you must. But when she's departed in a whirl of indigation, or shut herself up howling in her room, I've a good mind to make you cook the dinner. Mrs. Harmon is bringing some old lady who is staying with her to tea this afternoon and I wanted Mitzi to make some little cakes—but I suppose you'll upset her completely. Can't you possibly go and suspect somebody else?"

Craddock went out to the kitchen. He asked Mitzi questions that he had asked her before and received the same answers.

Yes, she had locked the front door soon after four o'clock. No, she did not always do so, but that afternoon she had been nervous because of "that dreadful advertisement." It was no good locking the side door because Miss Blacklock and Miss Bunner went out that way to shut up the ducks and feed the chickens and Mrs. Haymes usually came in that way from work.

"Mrs. Haymes says she locked the door when she came in at 5:30."

"Ah, and you believe her—oh yes, you believe her—"

"Do you think we shouldn't believe her?"

"What does it matter what I think? You will not believe me."

"Supposing you give us a chance. You think Mrs. Haymes didn't lock that door?"

"I think she was very careful not to lock it."

"What do you mean by that?" asked Craddock.

"That young man, he does not work alone. No, he knows where to come, he knows that when he comes a door will be left open for him—oh very conveniently open!"

"What are you trying to say?"

"What is the use of what I say? You will not listen. You say I am a poor refugee girl who tells lies. You say that a fair-haired English lady, oh no, she does not tell lies—she is so British—so honest. So you believe her and not me. But I could tell you. Oh yes, I could tell you!"

She banged down a saucepan on the stove.

Uncle Wiggily Story

By Howard Garis

BUYING THE SEEDS

4-29-50
"I got a dime out of my bank"

Jingle and Jangle, those funny little Uncle Wiggily twin rabbits, were very happy. They hopped into the hollow stump bungalow laughing and whispering.

"What is this all about?" asked Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy. The muskrat lady housekeeper for Mr. and Mrs. Longears was washing the breakfast dishes. Then Nurse Jane fastened a towel on the end of her long tail and dried the dishes. "What are you two little rabbits going to do?" asked Nurse Jane.

"We are going to plant a garden," said Jingle.

"And they are going to grow in it and be a lot more," said Jangle.

"What is going to grow in your garden?" asked Nurse Jane. "Will you get silvery bells and cockle shells in your garden, like Mistress Mary, who was quite contrary?"

"Oh, no, not silvery bells," answered Jingle.

"Nor cockle shells," added Jangle.

"Well, this is quite a mystery," laughed Nurse Jane. "Good luck to your garden, Jingle and Jangle!"

Nurse Jane went on with her kitchen work. Through the door she saw Jingle and Jangle shaking their piggy banks. Inside the piggy banks there was the rattle of pennies, nickels and dimes. Then Jingle whispered.

"I got a dime out of my bank."

"And I got a dime out of my bank," whispered Jangle.

Then the two little rabbits hopped out of the bungalow just as Uncle Wiggily hopped in. The rabbit gentleman had been looking at his garden and wondering when the seeds he had planted would grow into cabbages, lettuce and carrots.

"Hello, Nurse Jane!" Uncle Wiggily twinkled his pink nose at the muskrat lady.

"Hello, Mr. Longears." Nurse Jane waved the dish towel on the end of her tail at the rabbit gentleman. "Jingle and Jangle are acting very queer, Uncle Wiggily."

"How are they acting?" asked the rabbit gentleman.

"They say they have a secret garden," replied Nurse Jane.

"That's right, Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy. Mr. Mole made a little garden for Jingle and Jangle just as Mr. Whitewash made a big garden for me. All little rabbits have a right to jolly, little secrets, Nurse Jane."

"But that isn't all," said Nurse Jane. "Jingle and Jangle shook dimes out of their piggy banks and now they have gone some place."

"That's all right," said Uncle Wiggily kindly. "The piggy bank money belongs to Jingle and Jangle. They saved it. The money is theirs to do with as they please. I think they have gone to the store to buy seeds for their secret garden."

"Oh," squeaked Nurse Jane and she finished drying the dishes. "Oh!"

Holding the piggy bank in their little paws, Jingle and Jangle hopped to the grocery store of Uncle Pat Butter, the nice goat gentleman.

"We want to buy something to plant in our garden," said Jingle.

"That's fine," bleated Uncle Butter. "Over here you'll find a box of all kinds of seeds—lettuce, tomatoes, carrots and cabbage."

The box of seeds was next to the candy showcase. Jingle and Jangle looked at the seeds. Then they looked at the candies—lollipops, gum drops and jelly beans. They were laughing and whispering.

After a while Jingle called:

"All right," bleated the jolly goat. And as Jingle and Jangle hopped out of the store, Uncle Butter said to himself:

"I wonder what kind of seeds they bought?"

I can tell you about that tomorrow if the kitchen stove will let the poor, wet raincoat come in to get dry before it catches cold in its buttons.

Yellow in Mind and Body

By DR. J. B. WARREN

The YELLOW PERIL!

When too much starch and fat foods are eaten it puts extra work on the liver and gall bladder and some of the yellow bile manufactured by the liver gets into the blood and what is called jaundice of the skin occurs. Thus, when liver is sluggish not only does the skin get yellow but the individual feels yellow (low) in spirits. Keep the liver active by exercise or if not able to exercise, by use of bile salts.

Speaker Urges Food Be Sent

Declares Russia Unable To Hold Chinese People

Russian Communism can not maintain its hold on the Chinese people, in the opinion of Miss Muriel Cordeaux, noted writer and lecturer who spoke yesterday to the Gyro Club at the Empress Hotel.

The people of China were becoming aware of Russia's intent, the speaker said, and promises of the Communists were not being fulfilled. Recently, she added, the Russians shipped large amount of rice out of China—quite contrary to promises of the Communists of "a full rice bowl, warmth, shelter and an equal distribution of lands."

The Russians "moved in" on the Chinese people when they (the Chinese) were thoroughly dissatisfied and when the United States had completely "lost face" in that nation. The people of China, Miss Cordeaux stated, had begun to hate the Americans when the United States started rehabilitating Japan at the close of the war.

She said Canada was probably the only nation held in high regard by the Chinese people and added that the Dominion should take advantage of an opportunity to assist the Chinese masses through contribution of food.

Miss Cordeaux recently inaugurated the Canadian Food Mission to China in this city.

Steel Workers Seek Appeal In Trail Issue

The United Steel Workers of America (C.I.O.-C.C.L.) are seeking the right to appeal a recent decision of the Labor Relations Board rejecting the union's application for certification for some 4,000 employees of the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Co. at Trail, it was learned yesterday.

The steel union has retained T. G. Norris, K.C., Vancouver, as counsel.

The labor board ruled May 8 that the union had failed to prove that it had sufficient members in good standing to be certified.

Certification at Trail is still held by the disaffiliated International Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers, which bitterly contested the steel union's application and recently signed a new work agreement covering smelter employees for next year.

No More Rain Till June 1?

Victoria gardeners who are looking for a bit more rainfall before the end of May will have to take what's being offered—and it's not much.

Total rainfall this month is calculated at .34 inch with no more predicted until the first of June. Sunday's .2 inch was the most that has fallen in any 24-hour period all month.

Last year, .4 inch of rain fell during May. It represents a slight increase over the 1950 rainfall.

Massed Choir Concert In Arena Saturday

The Arena Commission has cleared the way for use of the Arena by the massed choir and symphony concert Saturday night.

Brig. F. N. Cabeldu, commission chairman, said last night that a meeting of the commission had removed the fear that contractors might start work on the Arena floor before the scheduled concert, thus canceling the event.

The concert, postponed twice already, is to start at 8 p.m. The program has not yet been definitely set but an announcement is expected today by officials of the Greater Victoria Celebrations Association.

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—The sealer Newfoundlander returned here recently with a tally-out of 17,387 seal pelts. Gross weight was more than 363 tons, valued at $38-383.89. Crew members' shares amounted to about $280.

"My mother did an unexpected thing—she took my hand in hers and kissed it

...I WAS KING"

This week in The Standard the Duke of Windsor tells of the solemn family gathering at the bedside of his dying father. At five minutes to midnight, death beckoned, and at the instant of this profound event, the Queen Mother kissed her son's hand . . . a gesture that stunned him into the realization that he was King!

"A KING'S STORY"
DUKE OF WINDSOR

He describes his first meeting with Wallis Warfield Simpson . . . and of the deep impression she made upon him. He speaks with pride of her grace, charm and character. He tells of their growing friendship and of his hopes that one day he might be able to share his life with her . . . and he reveals how those hopes were the start of the crisis leading to his abdication.

Intensely human, it reveals the drama and mental conflict in the life of a King who said, "I was determined that my choice of a wife would be dictated not by considerations of state but by my own heart."

Raises Share In Superior

EDMONTON, May 29 (CP).—General Petroleums Ltd., has purchased 500,000 shares of Superior Oils Ltd., treasury stock for $250,000, raising its share in Superior to 574,000 shares. Superior is capitalized at 4,000,000 shares of which 3,800,000 will be issued on transfer of the newly purchased stock to General.

Reason for the sale was to provide Superior with adequate capital to take care of its recently-purchased interest in a half-section of proven Redwater land. For a 18¼ per cent interest in the Crown land, Superior paid $450,000.

The Redwater tract, in which Federated Petroleums Ltd., is the principal factor, has an estimated oil reserve of 10,000,000 barrels. First three wells on the tract had production casing set at the week-end.

U.S. Output Of Steel Soars

CLEVELAND, May 29 (AP).—Steelmaking in the United States reached another all-time high last week, rising a half point to 101.5 per cent of rated capacity, or an output of 1,940,000 tons of steel.

However, Steel Magazine, in reporting this today, gave little hope of relief for the current stringency in steel supplies.

"Not only is supply tight in the light, flat-rolled products and pipe, but mill order backlogs are mounting in plates, shapes, bars and some specialties," the magazine said.

Report Earnings Of $1,939,754

MONTREAL, May 29 (CP).—Canadian Pacific Railway today reported net earnings for April of $1,939,754, an increase of $634,990 over the $1,304,756 reported for April, 1949.

Gross earnings for April were $29,782,941, against $30,120,788, a decrease of $352,847 compared with April, 1949.

BOND DEALINGS DULL

MONTREAL, May 29 (CP).—Trading was dull on the bond market today. In the Dominions, there was a good demand for middle-term Canada issues, the 3's of '57, '59 and '60 which were up fractionally. In the corporations, Interprovincial Pipelines were off about five points. The balance of the market was ignored.

Prices Advance Slightly On New York Exchange

Stock prices edged ahead in yesterday's New York market in response to moderate demand for selected issues.

Typical pre-holiday quiet prevailed and the volume of trading dropped to 1,110,000 shares for the day, lowest of any five-hour session since March 13.

Many traders stayed away from Wall Street, extending the long week-end through tomorrow's Memorial Day closing.

In the resulting slow market, even modest buying was enough to put a majority of stocks in the plus column, some of them at their best prices of the year.

Only 1,055 issues were traded, the fewest for any session this year. Of these, 493 advanced and 204 declined. Fifty stocks touched new 1950 highs, 15 were at new lows.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks pushed ahead .2 of a point to 79.0 just below its four-year peak. Industrials climbed .4 of a point to a new high for the year, rails had a narrower gain and utilities were unchanged.

WESTERN OILS ADVANCE

In Toronto Western oil stocks chalked up a third successive session of advances into new high ground in 13 years on the stock exchange. Volume was about 4,550,000 shares.

General Petroleum held the limelight in Western oils. A.P. Consolidated, Coastal, Commonwealth, New Pacalta, United and Superior reached new high points for the year.

Industrials moved irregularly, finding some demand late in the day. Base metals steadied.

INDUSTRIALS MIXED

Trends were irregular near the final hour on the Montreal Stock Exchange and Curb Market.

Industrials were mixed. Papers were mainly steady to fractionally firmer.

Activity in the Western oils featured the mining list. Superior Oil and General Petroleum were bright issues, advancing seven cents at $1.05 and 40 cents at $2.10 respectively.

Business Notes

MONTREAL, P.Q., May 29.—Development of Canadian industry through investment money will be demonstrated to the general public at the Windsor Hotel Wednesday during a public forum on mutual funds.

More than 40 of Canada's best-known industries will have displays set up to demonstrate the meaning of investment ownership.

First public meeting on the investment of money ever held in Montreal, the event has been arranged by Investment Distributors Ltd. in response to wide interests in the subject of mutual funds.

TORONTO, May 29.—In the year ending December 31, 1949, Ventures Limited reported a net profit of $862,000, equivalent to 48.23c per share. Dividends received totaled $1,240,935, being the highest in the company's history and comparing with the previous high figure of $1,187,907 in 1948.

The balance sheet discloses that the bank loan at year end was reduced to $1,971,270 from $3,165,000 at the end of 1948.

A dividend of 8c per share was paid in December and President Thayer Lindsley comments that the policy of declaring modest dividends would be continued through 1950. By 1951, Mr. Lindsley states, it is expected that larger dividends can be paid.

The balance sheet as at December 31, 1949, disclosed assets of $9,465,270, taking interests in subsidiary, associated and other companies at not more than cost. Current liabilities totaled $2,056,664, including bank loan.

OTTAWA, May 29 (CP).—Canadian flour mills produced 1,950,721 barrels of wheat flour during March, the Bureau of Statistics reports.

The March production was 16 per cent higher than the 1,683,752 barrels produced in the corresponding month last year. However, the 14,052,196 barrels produced in the first eight months of the current crop year remained slightly below last year's corresponding total of 14,003,500 barrels.

Wheat flour exports in March totalled 805,685 barrels compared with 802,667 a year earlier, bringing total exports for the eight-month period to 6,729,046 barrels, down sharply from the 7,583,007 barrels reported in the corresponding period of 1948-49.

TORONTO, May 29 (CP).—East Sullivan Mines, holders of properties in Bourlamaque Township, Que., earned net profit of $2,718,896 in 1949, equal to 67 cents a share, the annual report shows.

Production revenue totaled $7,326,907 while operating expenses amounted to $4,491,878, leaving an operating profit, before $116,457 in Quebec mining profit taxes, of $2,835,093.

In his report to shareholders, President Pierre Beauchemin said that exemption from Dominion Government income tax, low operating costs as well as a substantial production resulted in the company's unparalleled profits during the first year of operation.

Cattle Trade Strong, Active

CALGARY, May 29 (CP).—The cattle trade at the Calgary stockyards was strong and active today with prices steady at 25 cents higher. The best demand was for good handyweight butcher cattle, grain fed cows and exportable stock steers. These were fully steady with a strong undertone. Plainer butcher cattle were no better than steady. Around 300 head were on offer at noon today.

The Dominion Livestock Market Service reported week-end saleable receipts: 20 cattle. Today's saleable receipts: 125 cattle, 10 calves.

Hogs sold last week at $29 a hundredweight for "A" grade at yards, sows at $17 liveweight.

Good to near choice butcher steers $26.50-$27.50; common to medium $19-$26. Good butcher heifers $25-$26, common to medium $16-$24.50. Good to choice fed calves $26.75-$28. Common to medium $23-$26. Good cows $19.50-$26.

Rail Service Now Resumed

VANCOUVER, May 29.—Canadian Pacific Railway service via the Coquihalla Pass, to points on the Kettle Valley rail line, has been resumed, according to an announcement by the company. The 56.6-mile Coquihalla Subdivision, from Odlum to Brookmere, had been closed to scheduled train operations for several months owing to Winter snow conditions, and trains routed over an alternate route. Service to Penticton and points east on the Kettle Valley line was resumed through the shorter Coquihalla Pass route last Wednesday.

Price Boost On Zinc Unnoticeable

NEW YORK, May 29 (AP).—Zinc's half-cent price increase last week had no observable effect on demand, and buying pressure on both that metal and copper remained heavy.

Lead sales, though somewhat smaller than in previous weeks, were considered satisfactory.

Copper was strong at 20½ cents a pound, Connecticut Valley. Several copper suppliers are booking July orders on a basis of average price prevailing on date of delivery.

Copper producers have booked orders for nearly 100,000 tons of copper for delivery this month.

Zinc price advanced to 12½ cents a pound, East St. Louis. Zinc now is at the highest price level since April, 1949.

Some traders feel the only important factor blocking a further rise is concern over possible displacement of zinc by competitive metals such as aluminum.

Lead was firm at 12 cents a pound, New York, and good-sized stocks were available for consumers. Shipments by primary refineries to domestic lead consumers increased to 32,751 tons in April from 22,258 in March.

Spot tin ended the week at 78½ cents a pound, New York—a net gain of half a cent from the previous week-end. Demand continued light.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE

NEW YORK, May 29 (CP).—The Canadian dollar was down 1/16 at a discount of 9 15/16 per cent in terms of United States funds in closing foreign exchange dealings today. The pound sterling was unchanged at $2.80⅛.

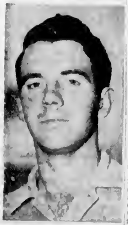
SECOND NEWS SECTION

NO. 143—NINETY-SECOND YEAR
VICTORIA, BRITISH COLUMBIA, TUESDAY, MAY 30, 1950

Injury Forces Scott From City All-Stars

Starting Line-Up Named for Rep Team To Face English Soccer Club Thursday

The good news that United Goalie Bill McAllister may be sufficiently recovered from his injury to play for the Victoria All-Stars against the English Football Association XI on Thursday was offset last night by the announcement that Left-Half Len Scott will definitely be out of action. Scott injured his knee while playing lacrosse with Victoria Shamrocks last Friday. He played for United in the Province Cup match on Saturday but his knee swelled up badly and forced him to withdraw from the All-Star line-up.



JOHN KENNEDY

KENNEDY CAPTAIN

The line-up released last night by Manager Tommy Restell has John Kennedy of Esquimalt playing centre-half, flanked by Jack Robbins of Heaneys and Red McMillan of United. Kennedy will act as captain of the All-Stars. Herman Henry of Duncan Native Sons, rated one of the best backs on the Island, will team with Murray Speller of United as the fullback combination.

DOUG DAY READY

Doug Day of Alcos is ready to step between the posts if McAllister is not ready to play while Bill Hope of Victoria West is available for backfield duty and Don Robinson of Esquimalt for forward work.

The gates at Athletic Park will be opened at 6 o'clock on Thursday, with the kick-off one hour later. A band will be in attendance and the players of both sides will be presented to Mayor George at 6 45.

A limited number of persons will be admitted for standing room back of the Cook Street goal. Tickets, at a reduced price, will be sold at the Cook Street gate. Children under 16 will be admitted to this section for 50 cents.

Selkirk Jokers, junior lacrosse club, will practise in the Stevenson Park box tonight at 6. All players are requested to be present and anyone interested in playing goal for the team is asked to attend or to contact Ken Banks at E 3700.

VANCOUVER, May 29 (CP).—Neil Panfrier found that umpiring a softball game can be dangerous. He was knocked out when struck over the heart by a foul ball. Treated at hospital, he was later sent home.

Win Places Cabbies In Third-Place Tie

HOW THEY STAND

Forest Products	3	5	.375
Bluebird Cabs	3	5	.375
Brentwood Aces	2	7	.222

Next game, tonight, Brentwood Aces vs. Chinese Students.

Bluebird Cabs vaulted into a third-place tie with B.C. Forest Products in the Senior "A" Men's Softball League last night by handing the Lumbermen an 11-3 defeat in ten innings at Upper Central. Brentwood Aces, who dropped a 9-6 decision to Douglas Tire on Sunday, became the new unwilling cellar-dwellers.

TO FLOOD FUND

Sunday's proceeds, totaling $161, were donated to the Manitoba Flood Relief Fund. Aces outhit the Tiremen, 16-10, and received the benefit of five Douglas Tire errors but were unable to hit in the clutch. Tiremen salted the game away with four runs in the top of the ninth to offset a late Brentwood rally that netted two runs.

Off to a good start when Charlie Sansbury hit a grand-slam home run in the first, Cabbies gave their supporters some anxious moments in the second and third innings as they came up with six bobbles. Three errors gave Forest Products two runs in the second without the aid of a base hit and three more bobbles in the third gave them five more markers on only two hits before Pitcher Al Majorki retired in favor of Charlie McKay.

Cabbies played good ball in the late innings and entered the final frame trailing 6-6. A walk, a pinch single by Ben Ethier, a single by George Robertson and an error by Hendry produced the tying runs.

LOAD BASES

Five singles by Hugh McDonald, Lum Lomas, Sansbury, Ethier and McKay provided Bluebirds' winning margin in the tenth. The Lumbermen loaded the bags in the bottom half of the frame but were unable to push the runners around.

Next games—Tomorrow 8:30 p.m., Tillicums vs. Jokers, 9 p.m., Navy vs. Foul Bay, Memorial Arena.

Tillicums took over undisputed possession of second place in the city senior "B" box-lacrosse league by downing Foul Bay 7-4 in a low scoring contest at Memorial Arena last night.

In the opening encounter of the two-game card, Jokers easily retained their undefeated position atop league standings by thumping Navy 17-0.

Backed by the steady netminding of Les Aitken, Tillicums were ahead 2-1 at the quarter, 4-1 at half time and 5-2 at the three-quarter mark.

REID LEADS

Jack Reid led the point-getters in the feature game by notching a goal and three assists for the winners. Bob Ritchie and Jack Moffatt each garnered two markers for Tillicums while Art Green picked up assists on three of the Bays' four tallies.

Jim Hetherington turned aside nine Navy shots on the Jokers' nets as he chalked up the first shutout in local lacrosse circles in recent years. Joe Bryant, who scored three goals for Woolseymen last night, counted a shutout several years ago while playing at the Willows.

Cliff Scroggie and Ray Douglas also dented the twine three times as the Navy netminder was beaten on 17 of 29 shots fired on his citadel.

Line-ups follow:

Snead Defeats Skip Alexander To Nab Trophy

FORT WORTH, Tex., May 29 (AP).—Sam Snead, golf's leading man, Sunday added another choice trophy to his bulging collection as he snapped up $3,000 for winning the $15,000 Colonial National Invitation Tournament. He finished with 277 for the 72 holes—three under par.

The top runner in everything pro golf has to offer—most money won, most Ryder Cup points and top contention for the Vardon Trophy—shot a three-over-par 73 over Colonial Country Club's troublesome 7,035 yards in the final round today.

Big Skip Alexander closed out with a 70 to win second money of $2,000 with a 72-hole total of 280. He did it as Ed Oliver of Seattle, Wash., who was second at the end of the third round yesterday, faltered badly, taking a 74 to wind up with 283 and a tie with Carey Middlecoff for fifth place.

Snead's winnings today put him over the $20,000 mark in money earned for the year. He now has $20,728 and a big lead in winnings.

E. J. (Dutch) Harrison and Ben Hogan divided third and fourth money, receiving $1,200 each. Harrison had a 72 and Hogan a 70 today as they closed out with 282.

Middlecoff, who shot a 71, and Oliver each got $850.

NEW WESTMINSTER, May 29 (CP).—Vancouver Burrards dug deep into their player reserves tonight to come up with several of their Mann Cup veterans who in return came up with a small 14-10 win over the Inter-City Lacrosse League-leading New Westminster Adanacs.

Veterans Roy Cavallin and Rene Leatherbarrow, two ageing Burrards, practically won the game single-handed.

STOPS ACES

It was the lean, diminutive Cavallin who time after time stopped Adanacs' scoring aces Jerome and Proctor.

With their efficient, dogged defence working smoothly around Goalie Jackie Green, the winners never allowed Adanacs more than two consecutive goals.

Adanacs' speedy forward line began to pay off in the late stages of the game as they closed the score to 9-11 in the third period. Leatherbarrow pulled the Burrards away for good as he burst through for their 12th and assisted on the 13th goals.

David Ulrich nosed out Rob Denny, 13 points to 12, for the intermediate crown and the Pickles Cup. James DeWolf took the junior title and the Martin Cup by amassing 14 points against nine for runner-up Burke Cuppage.

Dawe took the Parizeau Cup for the 100-yard dash, while David Brown won the Pitts Cup for the same event under 12. Simpson won the open high jump to take the Homex-Dixon Cup, and Bobby Thacker won the open 440. Blue House won the house relay.

Mr. David Tracy, the psychologist who was supposed to convince the St. Louis Browns that they were better than they really were, was released yesterday. The Browns are trailing the American League.

John Marshall made last night a gala occasion for over 3,000 Victoria baseball fans when he won his fourth victory in five decisions for the Victoria Athletics. The A's trimmed Vancouver Capilanos, 8-4, at Royal Athletic Park in the first W.I.L. game of the year between the Canadian clubs.

The triumph moved the A's to within three games of the Caps and the sixth-place Spokane Indians, and left Manager Marty Krug with his pitching straightened out for what he hopes will be a steady climb to a more respectable standing. The Caps will see a steady diet of southpaw for the remainder of the week. Aldon Wilkie and Jim Hedgecock will start in tonight's double-header and will presumably work the Saturday games at Vancouver. Jim Propst is scheduled to open the Vancouver end of the series tomorrow night.

MARSHALL HAD TROUBLE

Marshall worked easily although a bit of control trouble and some dubious calls by plate-umpire Nels Pearson had him in trouble several times. The right-hander, showing no ill-effects from the ankle injury which sidelined him for almost two weeks, had the Caps baffled with his neat slider. He walked six and struck out eight as his teammates partially atoned for four errors with three double plays. Meanwhile, George Nicholas, one of the Vancouver aces, was far from his usual self and never looked like a winning pitcher.

Max Patkin was the main reason for the big turnout but the baseball clown, making his appearance in the fourth inning, found he had had plenty of rivalry. The Caps and the A's had just finished scoring three runs each in the third inning in a wild comedy of errors which saw six runs tally with only a lone base hit.

STOLE SECOND

Jim Robinson led off the Vancouver half of the inning by walking and stealing second. Jim Wert then went far towards second to take Reg. Clarkson's bounder but threw badly to Marshall, who was trying to cover first base. Robinson scored on the play and Clarkson went to second to score Cote when Len Tran doubled. Tran counted as Wert lost Bill Dunn's throw of Bill Heisner's ground ball in the sun.

The A's came right back to tie it up without the aid of even one base hit. Nicholas threw 11 straight balls to open the inning, walking Edo Vanni and Joe Kronberg and just escaped filling the bags when Pearson called a bad second strike on K. Chorlton, who later grounded out, but moved both runners up.

Robinson then came up with a good stop of Gene Thompson's smash and Vanni was caught between third and the plate. He and Kronberg scored and Thompson went to third as both Robinson and Ray Tran let Heisner's throw go by into left field. Thompson later scored as Wert struck out on a wild pitch.

Jim Moore scored on the tag end of a double steal with Vanni to put the A's ahead in the fourth and Chorlton provided what proved to be the winning run when he tripled in the sixth behind Kronberg's single. Chorlton later counted on Thompson's fly to short left. The sore-armed Clarkson was only able to lob the ball to Ray Tran whose relay to the plate was much too late. Marshall drove in Moore with the eighth Victoria run in the seventh when he skied to right-field.

MOORE SHINES

Moore and Chorlton played a big part in the defeat of their former teammates. The young second baseman figured in all three Victoria double plays, handled nine fielding chances perfectly, singled twice and walked once and sacrificed in four trips, scored twice and stole three bases. Chorlton drove in two runs with a single and triple and scored once.

The game almost produced a triple play in the second when the Caps wormed out of a bases-loaded, nobody-out situation without a run. Dunn came up after two singles and a late throw to third had put three runners aboard and lined to Len Tran, who threw to Brother Ray to double Al Ronning. Although Moore could have been taken at first, the Vancouver shortstop unaccountably held up his throw. Marshall ended the inning with a hard-hit ball to Clarkson.

The three flight finals were also decided by similar 2 and 1 scores.

Mrs. R. Rickinson defeated Mrs. O. Carroll to take the first flight championship, Mrs. R. Norsworthy won the second flight title from Mrs. H. Kirkham and Miss B. Reig beated Miss B. Basten to take third flight honors.

Humber Third Winner

Oldsters-Students Game Sid Thomas Award Site

Bruce Humber, recently adjudged the person who had made the greatest contribution to amateur sports in Victoria during the past year, will be presented with the Sid Thomas Memorial Trophy immediately before the Old-Timers-Victoria High School reps benefit baseball game at Royal Athletic Park, Saturday night.

By being named the winner of the award in a competition with 36 other Victoria sports personalities, Canada's Empire Games coach becomes the third holder of the trophy presented by Brock Whitney in 1947. Swimmer Peter Salmon and Boxer Eddie Haddad received the nomination in 1947 and 1948. No award was made last year.

MASSIVE TROPHY

In addition to the massive trophy, Humber will also receive a replica and a stop watch presented by The Colonist.

Proceeds from Saturday's show will go towards the relief of Manitoba flood victims and the construction of tennis courts at the school. The first $100 will be designated for flood relief and the remainder will be divided equally between the two funds.

Tommy Forbes, manager of the former athletic heroes of Victoria High, announced yesterday that he had mailed an invitation to Muzz Patrick asking him to rally on the side of the veterans. He expects a reply from Patrick, coach of the Tacoma Rockets, by tomorrow.

Forbes also stated that he had prevailed upon Bob Whyte to turn out with the oldsters, and that Roy Barnes, Murty Dunn and George McDermitt had agreed to attempt one more brief fling at the diamond sport.

DARK SECRET

"We'll have great strength (as far as numbers go) on our squad," Forbes declared. "If all else fails, we still have 'Dinah' as our secret weapon." Just who Dinah is, still remains a dark secret.

The high school committee in charge of the program has arranged several added features for entertainment of the spectators. Latest to offer their services for the benefit are the Victoria Girls' Drill Team and the musical aggregation known as the Garden City Five.

The Sportlight

By GRANTLAND RICE

The assault on Babe Ruth's famous home-run target—the 60 mark—can be more dangerous than usual this year. With May running out of days, leaving June, July, August and September for operating months, the attacking side has both quantity and quality at work.

From the American League we have Ted Williams, Walt Dropo and Vern Stephens of the Red Sox—a high-powered outfit—with Al Rosen of the Indians and Ferris Fain of the Athletics.

The National League presents Ralph Kiner of the Pirates, Willie Jones of the Phillies, Sid Gordon of the Braves and Andy Pafko of the Cubs. There are other strong hitters on the borderline, including Larry Doby and Luke Easter of the Indians.

Williams was away flying until he became embroiled in a civil war with his own home-town fans. This mixup apparently didn't help his swing which up to that spot had produced 11 home runs, more than enough to lead both leagues. Williams was hot on the Ruth trail until this unfortunate event took place.

Kiner, an extremely intelligent young man, has said—"That 60 mark is a tough one. It's a tough physical barrier and a tough psychological barrier. You may remember how close Hank Greenberg and Jimmy Foxx got. Greenberg, a great long-distance hitter, had over a week in which to make just two home runs for a tie. He couldn't do it. Neither could Foxx.

"I hit 20 home runs in the last 30 games last year. That was as fine a finish as I could ever hope to make. It was far over my best. Yet I fell six homers short. Sixty home runs make a terrific target. Certainly no one will ever approach Babe's all-time mark of something like 714 homers in regular play."

Records, however, are made to be broken. If the ball remains as lively as it is, the time is coming when a Kiner, Williams, Dropo or Easter will crack the Babe's enduring mark, that has now lasted over 20 years. Williams and Kiner are the two big hitters who have the leading chance this season. But Ted will have to forget his emotional upsets and forget about those around him who get so little fun out of life that a boo produces a thrill. Williams and a friendly supporting crowd at home would be a terrific combination to handle.

Forty-Six Years Ago

The finish of the British amateur last week recalls the first American victory in this event some 46 years ago.

At that time England and Scotland ruled the kingdom of golf with stainless sceptres. The United States was a land of bunkered yokels. The American golfing triumph was almost as bad as having England invade the United States and capture a world series.

The big shock came from a transplanted Australian known as Walter J. Travis. Travis had never seen a golf club until he was 36 years old. He was a spare, gaunt man with little physical power. He took up golf for his health at the advice of his doctor. He never took a lesson. He practised and played at Oakland one Fall and Winter. The next Spring at Meadowbrook, six months after swinging his first golf club, he won the qualifying medal and the match-play tournament.

Travis was 40 years old at least when he left for England in 1904. He was taken as a joke by English and Scottish stars. He could drive only 180 to 200 yards. But he had a reliable putter known as the Schenectady, a centre-shafted type. Round after round the veteran Travis sank putts from 10 to 20 feet away. Always a magnificent putter, one of the greatest that ever played, he was at his best at Sandwich, a rugged seaside course.

By the semi-final round, with Travis again the winner, the British were more upset than New Englanders were when Paul Revere announced in booming tones "The British are coming!"

In the final round, Travis faced Edward Blackwell, a giant Englishman, over 6 feet in height and the longest hitter of his time. So the tees were moved back to the limit. Travis had barely been making the carries from much shorter tees. Naturally, he still barely made them. His English opponent was outdriving him by 50 and 60 yards. But the deadly Travis putter more than made up for the driving margin.

This victory in the British amateur of 1904 must be listed as one of the greatest upsets sport has ever known. It was 22 years later before Jess Sweetser could win the second American victory. Through those years we sent over such great golfers as Bobby Jones, Jerry Travers, Chick Evans and Francis Ouimet. But it had remained for the slender, thin-chested man who took up golf at the edge of middle-age to be the first to win Britain's most coveted crown—apart from her royalty.

Stan Musial Far Out in Front In Batting in National League

NEW YORK, May 29 (AP)—Way out front with a 71-point edge on all opposition, Stan Musial is leading the National League batting race. The St. Louis Cardinal outfielder and first-baseman is hitting .442 and gaining every day.

Averages through Sunday's games show Jackie Robinson of Brooklyn hit close to .500 during the week and added 36 points. His .369 average is good for only third place.

Johnny Hopp of Pittsburgh, seeing limited duty, is second at .371. Joe Garagiola, St. Louis catcher, has slipped 20 points to fourth at .357.

NEWCOMER

Hank Edwards, Chicago outfielder, is a newcomer in the top ten with a .352 average for fifth place.

Then come Andy Pafko of Chicago, .340; Dick Sisler of the Phillies, .336; Duke Snider of Brooklyn, .328; Danny Murtaugh of Pittsburgh, .310, and Sam Jethroe of Boston, .308.

The pitching leader is Chicago's Bob Rush with a 6-1 record. Robin Roberts' 11 strikeouts against the Giants, Friday night, sent him into the lead in that department with 47.

CHICAGO, May 29 (AP).—Outfielder Larry Doby of Cleveland last week slipped 15 percentage points to .402, but still widened his American League batting lead by exactly as many points.

This came about as runner-up Paul Lehner of Philadelphia dropped 26 points from .411 to .385. Last Monday, Lehner trailed Doby by only four points. Now Doby leads by 17 points.

IN THIRD PLACE

Sam Mele of Washington now holds third place with .373, a drop of 17 points. Other leaders according to figures computed through Sunday's games are Bill Goodman, Boston, .368; George Kell, Detroit, .360; Walt Dropo, Boston, .349; Phil Rizzuto, New York, and Johnny Pesky, Boston, .341 each; Birdie Tebbetts, Boston, .336, and Dom DiMaggio, Boston, .333.

Listed as the pitching leader with a 4-1 record is New York's Tommy Byrne, while another Yankee flinger, Allie Reynolds, has the most strikeouts, 42.

Decision Goes To Walcott At Mannheim

MANNHEIM, Germany, May 29 (AP) — Jersey Joe Walcott Sunday won a ten-round decision over Hein Ten Hoff, the German heavyweight champion, in Germany's first big international ring show since Hitler.

No title was at stake, but the fight had been heralded as a chance for the 218-pound, 30-year-old German to bid for a shot at the world heavyweight crown. Present titleholder recognized by the United States National Boxing Association is Ezzard Charles.

The 36-year-old Walcott, weighing 201 pounds, outslugged the younger and bigger German before a disappointingly small crowd estimated at 26,000 persons. The fight was staged in Mannheim's huge football stadium, which seats about 70,000, but rain during most of the afternoon cut down attendance.

Chicago White Sox exploded for four runs in the first and eighth innings yesterday to hand the downtrodden St. Louis Browns their seventh straight American League defeat, 12-6. Phil Masi drove in five runs for Chicago while Don Lenhardt hit a two-run homer for the Browns.

Only 624 fans watched the Browns slip deeper into the league cellar as Manager Zack Taylor used five pitchers in an attempt to stop the Chicago aggregation which posted its third victory in four starts under its new manager, Johnny (Red) Corriden.

It was the only major league game played as the Washington-Boston and Brooklyn-New York contests were rained out.

Battle for Berths Led By Australian Von Nida

FORT WORTH, Tex., May 29 (INS).—Norman Von Nida, the little man from Australia, came out right on top today with a five-under-par 135 in the 36-hole National Open sectional qualifying matches at Fort Worth's Colonial Country Club.

The Sydney, Australia, professional paced 33 competitors in the fight for 15 berths in the Open held June 8-9-10 in Ardmore, Pa.

Von Nida, playing his usual accurate brand of golf, fired a fine 36-32—68 in the morning session and then wound up the day with an even better 34-33—67 in the afternoon.

One stroke behind the wee Aussie was veteran Dutch Harrison at 69-67—136, while Jim Ferrier was the third man to qualify with a 71-67—138.

Skip Alexander, Ed Furgol, Henry Ransom, Paul O'Leary, and Marty Furgol, all came in at 139 to qualify with ease.

At 141 it was Raymond Gafford, Jimmy Demaret, Dick Metz, and Glenn Teal, Memphis, while Joe Kirkwood Jr., and Bill Nary, made it with 142.

LAST TO QUALIFY

The last man to qualify for the Open in Fort Worth was Henry Picard, who beat Ed (Porky) Oliver, Seattle in an extra hole swatfest after both tied at 143 in the regular 36-holes.

In addition to Oliver, other touring professionals who missed winning spots in the National meet were Toney Penna, Chandler Harper, Fred Hawkins, George Schneiter, and Al Smith.

However, Oliver, Penna and Harper, along with Iverson Martin, Graham, Tex and Earl Stewart of Dallas, were named as alternates.

Remember When..

Frank Selke ended a 20-year partnership with Conn Smythe four years ago today by resigning as publicity director of Toronto Maple Leafs in the National Hockey League. He had played with Smythe on a University of Toronto team after the Great War. At Montreal he succeeded Tommy Gorman as manager of the Montreal Canadiens, then world champions.

"*CHRYCO Cyclebond
BRAKE LININGS
GIVE ME 3 TIMES THE WEAR", SAYS MONTREAL CAB DRIVER
YVON BELLEMARE

"I am more than satisfied with the exceptional service I have had with Chryco Cyclebond Brake Linings", writes Yvon Bellemare, 5330 St. Denis St., Montreal. "They were installed 81,000 miles ago on my taxi . . . in use 24 hours a day in heavy traffic. Life of ordinary riveted linings used previously was from 12,000 to 14,000 miles." Reports from coast-to-coast in Canada tell the same story . . . Chryco Cyclebond Brake Linings give up to three times the wear under tougher-than-ordinary use!

Chryco Cyclebond Brake Linings are rivetless, wear longer, give more effective braking, practically eliminate drum scoring.

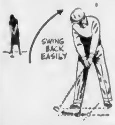
Golf— Here's How

By SAM SNEAD
Golf's Greatest Player-Teacher



Never hurry your backswing. With that all-in-one-piece movement, which means your hip and shoulder pivot—not just your arms—carries the club back up and around. By the time the clubhead has reached the dotted position the hip and shoulder pivot will have started transferring most of your weight to the right leg. The left heel will have begun to rise. This will keep the knees on an even horizontal plane. And this is necessary to avoid a left side dip. With a swing made this way it is easy and natural to delay the cocking of the wrists until the hands are hip high in the backswing. This is important golf technique because doing it this way you tend to return the hands to hip-high position in the downswing before you start any hand action. And that is good golf.

U.S. Cagers Wow Fans On 80-Day Europe Tour

LONDON, May 29 (AP).—Two ace American basketball teams—self-styled "missionaries spreading the Gospel"—are wowing fans on an 80-day European tour.

The barnstorming all-negro Harlem Globetrotters and their American all-star opponents are displaying trick shots, dribbling, ball control and crazy court antics undreamed of here. Arenas are packed. Already plans are afoot for a 1951 return trip.

Pop-eyed British sportswriters of the spectacular ball-juggling gasped "amazing, uncanny, thrilling—like nothing we've ever seen!"

Similar reaction was reported from Portugal, where 6,000 fans watched a practice session, France, Belgium and Switzerland. Advance bookings for four other countries are heavy.

The British jaunt of the two squads has given a boost.

Owner-Coach Abe Saperstein says in the first 18 days he cleared the equivalent in European currency of $25,000 towards the $70,000 cost of the trip. The tour started May 3 in Lisbon and ends July 23 in Paris.

STILL TO COME

Still to come this trip are exhibitions in Italy, West Germany, Luxembourg, Algiers and return jaunts to basketball-hungry Portugal, Switzerland and France.

The B.B.C. televised the first London game and thousands of Britons who formerly sniffed at basketball as a girls' game rushed for tickets.

"No, Aunt Agathe," wrote one sports scribe. "This isn't anything like the netball at your girls' school. In fact, it isn't like anything you've ever seen!"

Prior Listing Of Hurlers Irks Shotton

BOSTON, May 29 (INS).—Brooklyn Manager Bert Shotton said it might be wise for Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler to prohibit managers from announcing their pitching choice in advance.

Such a move, Shotton pointed out, could frustrate gamblers and, at the same time, "take us managers off the spot."

Shotton Friday refused to announce a pitcher for Saturday's Brooklyn-Boston game, although he softened later and said it would be Don Newcombe.

He attributed his refusal to name Newcombe Friday to an unwillingness to "help out any gamblers."

New Film Waiting For Greer Garson

HEARD IN HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, May 29 (INS).—Greer Garson, who has been living quietly with Buddy Fogelson in Bel-Air, may not know this, but I can tell her the name of her next picture when she returns to M.G.M. is "After All I Did." While on leave of absence she is devoting all her time to getting Buddy back to health. She did an added scene for "Mrs. Miniver," however, as a favor to M.G.M.

For Greer's information, Voldimar Vetluguin will produce "After All I Did," an original story by Isabel Lennart, who scripted Lana Turner's picture, "A Life of Her Own." Greer plays a wife who spurs her husband to great success during the war period, and then never fails to remind him of it.

She and Buddy go to Honolulu and later to his ranch in Arizona.

SIR LAURENCE

Interesting, I think, that Laurence Olivier is coming to this country with Vivien Leigh. If all goes well he, too, will make a picture while Vivien does "Streetcar Named Desire."

Larry, pardon me, Sir Laurence, talked with William Wyler, when Willie was in Europe, about starring in "Sister Carrie." He is enthusiastic about the famous Theodore Dreiser story.

RITA'S BROTHER

As Rita Hayworth continues to stall about her movie career, her younger brother, Eduardo Cansino, Jr., is just starting his. Eduardo has been signed for the Spanish dancer in "Torero," the bullfighter story Bob Stack and Gilbert Roland are making in Mexico.

This is young Cansino's first fling on the screen although he has been preparing himself for an acting career at the Lab Theatre. He is a good-looking boy and should do well.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY

Sarah Marshall, daughter of Edna Best and Herbert Marshall, will never forget her 17th birthday. On that day, Sarah got her first important stage role.

She went East to audition as an understudy for the Lunt and Fontanne show, "I Know My Love." On Friday, she was asked if she'd like to audition for the granddaughter role. So when the curtain rang down on the play, Alfred Lunt rehearsed a scene with her, with Lynn and himself the only other people in the theatre.

As soon as Sarah had finished, Alfred turned to Lynn and said, "What are we waiting for? The child is perfect."

Tourists See Dirt Pitch, Remain Willing to Play

VANCOUVER, May 29 (CP)—Englishmen, with their renowned sense of diplomacy, were the salvation of city soccer officials today when they viewed the dirt ditch laid out for their Vancouver exhibitions.

"It's really not as bad as we thought," said team members as they took their first glimpse of the rocky, sand-covered Callister Park.

Cause for the Vancouver official's worry was the stormy protest made by Newcastle United when they visited Callister for an exhibition last year.

Asked if they were horrified at the dirt pitch, football officials merely said, "No, but we have never seen anything like it before."

Weary after their all-night train travel, the players arrived early this morning and after a short visit to their hotel were out to the park for their first workout.

They will play one game here Tuesday night after which they journey to Victoria for another on Thursday, returning to Vancouver to play again Saturday.

Stanley Matthews, the diminutive, shy, outside right who is rated as the greatest player on the team, will play tomorrow night.

$6 TO SPEND

Even soccer stars such as Matthews, who is valued at $100,000 in transfer value, are allowed only $6 per day for spending money. No player wages are paid here, their Summer scale of £10 a week goes into the bank at home.

Chief anxiety of the English lads was to find out whether their mail had arrived. It had not, and that was the only thing they seemed unhappy about.

Adverts will be out on the Lower Central diamond tonight in an attempt to stretch their women's softball league winning streak to three games and to snap the five-game victory skein of Red's Service, which has already clinched the Jack Taylor Memorial Trophy.

In last night's contest on the Lower Central field, Allsorts moved into a fourth-place tie with Adverts by downing Toppers, 8-5.

Irene Sande came to the relief of Starter Pauline Bradley in the third inning and held the Toppers to a pair of runs over the remainder of the route to gain credit for the triumph. She turned nine batters back to the bench via the strike-out route.

Two Admit Taking Funds From Till at Port Club

PORT ALBERNI, May 29 —Donald Ferguson and Robert Porter were charged before Magistrate T M Patterson in police court with the theft of money and watches over the value of $25. They pleaded guilty and were remanded for sentence.

The charge arose from the entry of a club and pool room. Police evidence showed they had been loaned a key for entry to the club and had taken advantage of the fact on Friday night. They removed $70 from the cash register, in addition to several watches.

Quick work by Provincial Police led to their apprehension and all the money and watches were recovered before the culprits had time to dispose of them.

To clasp her hand in a better land,
Never to part again.

MANY companies prefer those who abstain from alcoholic beverages. If you give greater facilities for drinking such by licensing hotels, there may be more unsafe drivers, which means greater losses and higher premiums, and a greater menace to the public in injuries and loss of life. The hotel men will ask you to vote "Yes," but if you will only stop to think of the consequences of increased temptation placed in front of the traveling public and wish to safeguard their insurance protection of the year. It's a 5-roomed house, containing nearly new furnace, 2 hand basins, 2 toilets, sinks, tubs, 2 range boilers, kitchen range, arms and beds and dressers. Similar house in neighborhood recently sold for $4,500. All we're asking you is $800 cash. Take the house away and leave us the lot. Possibility of removing upper story and retaining a good 4 room place and easy to move off—if the house is demolished the value of useable materials would be $1,000 to $1,200 at today's market. TIP-TOE THROUGH THE TULIPS Suburban—Picturesque Scenic Approximately 6½ miles from town on nearly half an acre of natural and landscaped ground set among stately fir trees and exclusively listed with this office, is a nine-year-old stucco house of four large rooms on a full basement with piped furnace. Built by Nelson for the present owners and offered for sale for the first time at a realistic price of $7200 and with quick possession. On this half-acre of natural rockeries, wild and cultivated flowers have flourished so that the riot of color is like looking at the blue of the sea on a sunny day or the colors in a sunset. Fish pools with lawn lighting and various spray effects have been built and, while the house is set well back from the Island Highway, a view of the sea and down traffic is to be had.

YOU WILL VOTE "NO"

THE BIGGEST BARGAIN

The residence evinces very little sign of the time it has been built and does show it is solid as a rock as to construction. The living-room is approximately 24 x 14, and has oak floors (the good kind). The bedrooms are a nice-size, the bath room is large and four-piece Pembroke; the kitchen has a tile sink and is built family-size, the nook is very large and there is a utility room with inside entrance to a high, day-lighted basement. On all this land, where there are several other building sites, the taxes are only $40. This home is being sacrificed for personal reasons. Call us now to see 4dt ISLAND HIGHWAY between Helmcken Road and Parsons Bridge.

7 - 8.30 P.M. Open for Inspection 2723 AVEBURY AVE.

Hills of Hoglium 4½-roomed white cedar siding with basement, piped furnace and 70x150 lot. It's a crying shame to sell this home for $6,300 when you compare it with what everybody is asking $4,300 for. Just 10 years old, it has 10-ft. L.R. with ⅝" oak floor, Pembroke 4-pce bath, tile sink, is wired for range and has porcelain laundry tubs. Also big clothes closets. This is a high, quiet location and is a perfect little home for a small family. Terms approx. $2,700 cash, balance $40 monthly. Taxes approx. $118 on 1½ lots. Black oak leaf mould soil, highly productive. Built by day labor by one of Victoria's former city policemen to house his new bride, it has good lumber, good fixtures and a good finish. If you'd spend $100 on a little touching up, you'd have a better-than-new home for a lot less money. We would like you to see this value. Increase in family the only reason for its sale. Quick possession, matter of days only. William (Bill) Hountfleisch to show you through. Sole agents, exclusive listing.

SIX ROOMS ALL ON ONE FLOOR. 30-FT. LIVING-ROOM. HOT-WATER HEATED. FULL BASEMENT. TWO-CAR GARAGE. GREENHOUSE HOT WATER HEATED FROM HOUSE. TROUT STREAM RUNS THE YEAR ROUND. LOVELY VIEWS AND A WORLD OF YOUR OWN.

Some years ago an Eastern contractor, so successful that he was able to retire early, came to Vancouver Island and picked this site to build his home in the West. He chose it for many reasons, mainly in Victoria, the beauty of the hills, the riot of color displayed by the dogwoods and the Autumn foliage, seclusion and peacefulness, the interest it provided his family, its wonderful water supply, and its sheltered locale.

Into it went the master's knowledge, and on every point of construction the best in the long flight of craftsmen was called in. Beamed ceilings and field stone fireplaces lend atmosphere, all combined to present the unusual and impressive which has called forth the admiration and desire of all who value the quiet, genteel life of country residence. Canada to Sell Wheat To U.K. on Open Market

LONDON, May 29 (Reuters).—Canada will sell wheat to Britain in open competition with other dollar-area grain producers after the four-year Anglo-Canadian wheat agreement expires this Summer, wheat experts in London said today.

These sources said it is believed that the two Governments, in discussion here last week on the Anglo-Canadian agreement, decided to end their system of bilateral agreements as of next July 31.

Under the new setup, the experts predict, Canada might capture the whole of the British market for dollar wheat.

They add that no official statement is expected before next week; Trade Minister C. D. Howe represented the Canadian Administration in the talks. Treasury and Board of Trade officials sat for the United Kingdom.

(In Ottawa tonight, official quarters confirmed that Canada has tentatively agreed to end the bilateral system of wheat agreements with Britain.)

July 31 is the date the Anglo-Canadian agreement runs out. After that, the sources believe, Canada and Britain will have no firm bulk contract for wheat from the Dominion.

This is the way they predict wheat trade between the two countries will work.

Canada will compete for Britain's market for dollar wheat within the price limits set under the International Wheat Agreement. This agreement, embracing five major wheat-growing countries and some 40 importing countries, set a maximum price for the crop year starting next August 1 of $1.98 (Canadian) a bushel and a minimum of $1.54. It was signed in March 1949.

British officials are believed to have informed Howe that Britain expects to need between 100,000,000 and 120,000,000 bushels of wheat from dollar-area producers during the 1950-51 crop year.

Urges Author Handle Sect

OTTAWA, May 29 (CP).—John Diefenbaker (P.C., Lake Centre) told the Commons tonight that the Sons of Freedom Doukhobors of British Columbia must be made to realize that they cannot "flout" Canadian law "at their whim and when they feel like it."

Speaking during study of Criminal Code amendments, he suggested to Justice Minister Garson that the Doukhobor problem be placed in the hands of James Wright of Saskatoon, who had great influence with the Doukhobors and understood them as did no other person in Canada.

Mr. Wright had written an authoritative book about the Doukhobors and understood their temperament. He was particularly familiar with the problem of the Sons of Freedom sect. He could do much towards solving the problem facing both the Dominion and Provincial Governments.

Holiday Deaths In U.S., 340

CHICAGO, May 29 (AP).—The Memorial Day week-end accident death toll in the United States reached 340, Monday. Traffic took nearly two-thirds of the snuffed-out lives—220.

Drownings accounted for 61 deaths, and 69 persons were killed in a variety of mishaps, including fires, a blast, plane crashes and falls.

A National Safety Council prediction that the traffic toll would reach 290 seemed far too low, with the homeward rush of millions of holiday travelers yet to come Tuesday.

PRAISE ATOMIC GROUP

WASHINGTON, May 27 (AP).—The United States Atomic Energy Commission says its present team of scientists and engineers is the largest in the program's history—and just as good as the wartime group that developed the atomic bomb. Today, the team numbers 3,200, compared with 3,000 last October before it was disclosed that the commission was trying to develop a hydrogen bomb.

Rain Expected To Weaken Forest Fires

TORONTO, May 27 (CP).—Eastern Canada's forest fire situation eased somewhat today.

At Kirkland Lake, rain quenched a fire which raged over 4,000 acres of grassland and slash-bush for five days. More than 500 fire fighters had been battling the blaze until the rains came. Other fires in Northern Ontario were reported to be doused today.

In Quebec, the Government said the fire hazard remains serious, but week-end rains may bring relief in some areas. Wide areas of the St. Lawrence north shore and lower St. Lawrence south shore have been closed to forest travel.

In New Brunswick the forest fire situation is described as improved although still dangerous. And in Nova Scotia, the forest ranger at Truro said some of the fires there had been deliberately set.

The ranger, R. T. McCabe, has been directing 300 men in the fire fighting. The fires have burned over 2,000 acres of second growth and slash. They are out of control and only rain can douse them. Mounties are investigating the report that these fires were intentionally set.

Culbertson on Bridge

(Copyright, 1950, by Ely Culbertson)

A group of Eastern experts has been experimenting for quite awhile with what is known as the "weak two-bid." The theory back of this convention is that it is more difficult for the opponents to bid safely when they must start at the two-level or higher.

Under expert handling, there is merit in this system, but at the same time, these weak two-bids must be calculated with particular care! They must not be too strong, because partner, not knowing how strong they are, will refuse to raise, and game will be missed; and they must not be too weak, because then they court severe penalties. Take today's deal for example. Nationally known experts sat North-South, but they didn't cope very well with their own system!

South, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
2 ♥	Pass	Pass	2 NT
Pass	3 NT	4 ♣	Double
4 ♦	Double	4 ♥	Double
Pass	Pass	Pass

South started things off dangerously for his own side by making a weak two-bid that was a little too weak! North stayed out of the auction on the first round, but when the bidding developed as it did, he acquired the fixed idea that East was counting on a very long diamond suit, and to prevent what appeared to be an easy victory for the enemy at three no trump, he "saved" at four clubs. Actually, East-West could not have made their three no trump contract against the best defence, and North, with excellent clubs and spades, should not have been so pessimistic, but by the same token, South might well have passed to four clubs doubled; his "rescue" in diamonds with a terrific "stab."

East - West defended perfectly against four hearts doubled, and won no fewer than two spade tricks, two hearts and four diamonds, for a 1,400-point penalty!

Floods Slight On Columbia

PORTLAND, May 29 (AP).—The Columbia River, still making its run-off gradually, stood at 13.2 feet here today, slightly above flood stage.

There was no damage in this area, though some lowlands were water-covered. The weather bureau forecast a slight drop here tomorrow, with a rise probably later in the week.

May's weather has improved the outlook here, Col. E. S. Ellison, head of the Portland Weather Bureau, reported.

He said most of the snow at lower elevations has already melted and flowed down toward the sea, lessening the danger of terrific sudden melting if a prolonged hot spell comes.

A flood crest of 25 to 26 feet is forecast for this area in Mid-June.

WITLEY, Surrey, England (CP).—At a cost of £5,000 ($15,500) six old army huts are to be converted into a secondary school here.

Welcome Set For Ali Khan

OTTAWA, May 29 (CP).—A 19-gun salute will roar out a welcome tomorrow for Liaquat Ali Khan, Prime Minister of Pakistan, as he arrives in Ottawa to begin a five-day visit to Canada.

The salute will be part of the trappings of the formal state welcome prepared for the leader of the 77,000,000 citizens of Canada's sister dominion. The elaborate ceremony also includes an honor guard, a band, and scores of handshakes with top government and diplomatic officials.

The Pakistani party is scheduled to arrive in the capital by air at 11 a.m., E.D.T., from the United States.

WILL PAY RESPECTS

Ali Khan, who is accompanied by the begum and a large retinue, will be personally welcomed by Prime Minister St. Laurent and Hon. Mohammid Ali, high commissioner for Pakistan in Canada. Members of the cabinet and city aldermen will also pay their respects.

After inspecting a 100-man R.C.A.F. guard of honor, the Prime Minister's party will proceed to Government House, where they will be the guests of Governor-General and Lady Alexander during their three-day stay in the capital.

New Zealand Floods Recede

WELLINGTON, N.Z., May 29 (Reuters).—Flood waters, which have surged over the Canterbury and Westland area in New Zealand's south island for nearly 48 hours, receded tonight as heavy storms which started the floods abated.

Westland was still isolated by road and rail, but the south island main railroad was running again after interruption along with rail, electricity and telephone services in many parts of the island.

The floods carried away dozens of bridges, made roads impassable and caused "appalling" stock losses, according to preliminary surveys.

GIVEN GREEN LIGHT

WASHINGTON, May 29 (CP).—Seven countries have been authorized by the Economic Co-operation Administration to spend $6,171,000 for Marshall Plan goods, about 13 per cent of the supplies to come from Canada and the rest from the United States. The new authorizations went to France, Italy, The Netherlands, Norway, Sweden, Turkey and China.

AN EVER-LOVING WIFE

SOFT SOAP . . .

How do I love you? Let me tell U ducky. It's the kind that never dies. The sort of love that makes me think I'm lucky, to dance with U till dawn, and then to rise. At seven, just to see U eat your toast, and drink your coffee from behind the news. Enuff to murmur, "Yes, Dear," when U boast, and hang enraptured while U air your views. Enuff, my love, to let your wandering eye, approve a streamlined hussy now & then. Enuff to never let you see me cry. (My crying's not the sort that charms the men.) Be warned, my man, your sentence is for life; One can't escape an ever-loving wife.

* * *

TWIN BEDS . . .

One can't escape an ever-loving wife . . . not even with twin beds. Incidentally we have a number of keen suites with twin beds, & U may choose from the walnut or the blonde finish. And then twist & turn and scratch your knees, and no one will say, "Lie still. You make a breeze that chills me when you haul the sheets away. What is the matter with you anyway? For Heaven's sake get set. It's almost day." I twist & turn, then lie upon my back, but sleep will not come, alas alack. Tho, I count sheep, my eyes refuse to close. I'll have to crawl in bed with you I 'spose. Twin beds are swell, but I can't sleep . . . I'M FROZE.

* * *

SO YOU BETTER . . .

Come down to our warehouse, and see this mahogany suite (it is not made with twin beds). The reason that it is different is the fact the highboy chest has 5 instead of 4 drawers. The Vanity has 7 instead of 5 drawers, and the enormous tilt plate mirror is as wide as the vanity itself. You actually save $60 on this all-mahogany set, & that's because we bot an awful flock of 'em. $179 for a lifetime of warm, rich mahogany. Your old wrack as part down payment, the balance easier, at

Friends Honor Retired Estevan Skipper

Capt. Harry S. Hughes, retired skipper of lighthouse vessel C.G.S. Estevan, in centre above, was honored by shipmates, Transport Department officials and host of friends, yesterday afternoon aboard vessel when he was presented with purse. Presentation was made by Tom Morrison, local agent for Transport Department (at left) on behalf of department and Capt. Hughes' many friends. At right is Capt. Harry Ormiston, present commanding officer of Estevan.

Ceremony Held on Lighthouse Ship As Tribute to Capt. Harry Hughes

—Marine News—

By RAY WORMALD

The officers' wardroom of C.G.S. Estevan, coastal lighthouse tender, was the scene of a ceremony yesterday afternoon when Capt. Harry S. Hughes, retired skipper of the vessel, was honored by his shipmates, officers of the Transport Department and a host of other friends.

Cheerful Capt. Hughes, attending the surprise ceremony with his wife, was presented with a purse by Tom Morrison, local agent for the Transport Department, while Mrs. Hughes received a large corsage from Miss J. Dixon, of the local Department of Transport office staff.

The occasion might well have had the name Harry as a password. There were three Harrys present—the retired skipper, Capt. Harry Ormiston, present commanding officer of the Estevan, and Capt. Harry Bilton, a former skipper of the lighthouse vessel.

The Estevan was tied up at her jetty by the Johnson Street Bridge fresh from an extensive overhaul and clean-up at Yarrows Ltd. Within a short time she will be back on her job of attending to the supply requirements of lighthouses and other navigational stations about Vancouver Island.

Capt. Hughes retired last March 3 to complete a fine record of service aboard the ship extending over many years.

Among others attending the presentation were Mr. and Mrs. Percy Pike, representing the lightkeepers of the stations served by the Estevan, A. Chisholm, supervisor of construction for the Transport Department here, and his wife, officers and men of the ship; Capt. Gordon Evans, former master of the smaller lighthouse vessel Berens, Col. K. Dixon, superintendent of lights, and Mrs. Dixon, and W. L. Stamford, former agent for the Transport Department in this city.

SHRIMP BOATS SEIZED

WASHINGTON, May 29 (AP).—Rep. Tollefson (R., Wash.) said here that five United States shrimp boats recently seized by a Mexican gunboat were taken because a fisherman refused to purchase bogus fishing licences.

Tollefson said in a statement that a House fisheries subcommittee investigating the Gulf incident has received testimony that Andrew Branco, owner of one of the seized vessels, had been buying bogus fishing licences from a Mexican national at Brownsville, Tex., for $125 to $133, plus five cents a pound on shrimp caught.

Just before the seizure, Tollefson continued, Branco refused to buy any more worthless permits from the Mexican. The same Mexican, he said, turned up on the gunboat when it seized the shrimp boats.

"Apparently the gunboat was looking for two fishing boats owned by Mr. Branco," Tollefson said. "One escaped but the Alamo was seized. Having surprised seven boats fishing in the same area, the gunboat could not logically take one out of the lot, but had to take all it could reach, which was five."

Tollefson said the United States should insist upon its refusal to recognize Mexico's claim that its territorial waters extend nine miles from low water mark on the Mexican shore.

NAVAL TARGET

WASHINGTON, May 29 (AP).—The United States Navy plans to try sinking one of its own ships by guided missile.

Officials who disclosed that yesterday said the experiment may alter naval tactics radically, both by demonstrating how much damage a powerful rocket can inflict on a vessel, and by leading to possible new defences against such weapons.

They indicated that the 13,000-ton carrier Independence—one of the targets in the Bikini atomic bomb tests—may be the ship used for the new experiment with faster-than-sound missiles. They would not say where or when the test will be made.

Yarrows Awarded $289,000 Order For 90-Foot Vancouver Fireboat

VANCOUVER, May 29 (CP).—Vancouver's new super-equipped fireboat will be in operation on Burrard Inlet before the end of this year.

This appeared certain today as City Council awarded a $289,500 contract for construction of the vessel to Yarrows, Limited, of Victoria. The Island company's bid was the lowest from four firms tendering for construction of the 90-foot fire fighter.

Contained in the Yarrows tender was a clause placing delivery date six months ahead, so that by the end of November the ship should be ready for or in commission.

Awarding of the contract brought victory to Alderman Gervin and his special three-man civic fireboat committee, who for the last eight months have labored to lift the ship out of the paper stage into the shipyards.

Aldermen were told that the ship will be powered with Kermath gasoline-driven engines, producing a speed close to 17 knots. Installation of an aluminum wheelhouse and an electrically-driven salvage winch are also included in the initial contract figure.

A difference of more than $3,000 exists between the Yarrows bid and that of Burrard Drydock Company, North Vancouver, for the construction job. In addition, the North Vancouver company demanded insertion of an escalator clause in the contract covering both labor and material.

E. W. Izard, general manager of Yarrows, said last night that construction of the fireboat would mean work for about 60 men, most of whom, however, would be men already employed at the yard.

Park Sports New Blooms This Week

Pansies, flowering crabapples and azaleas are now at their best in Beacon Hill Park, according to Parks Administrator W. H. Warren.

He said the gunnera, giant rhubarb growing in a bog bed by the lakeside across from the deer enclosure already has leaves four feet across.

"Nearby is a bed of forget-me-nots with the heads of multi-colored ranunculus poking through," he said.

ALDERMAN'S FAVORITE

Mr. Warren said the favorite tree of Alderman Duncan McTavish, chairman of the parks committee, is a large Deodora Cedar growing near the L-shaped angle of Goodacre Lake known as "the tree with a hundred arms." The tree is now making a satisfactory recovery from frost damage.

The parks administrator said Winter injury has been more severe than previously believed.

"Many hedges in parks and private homes will have to be entirely removed," stated Mr. Warren.

GUELPH, Ont. (CP).—The Optimists' Club had a little help here when it painted its boys' workshop cottage. One of the Optimists had to go fishing and his place was taken by two members of the local Lions' Club.

Trawler Safe After Battle Against Gale

SEATTLE, May 29 (AP).—The disabled halibut trawler Oceanus reached the haven of Namu harbor today in the tow of the Coast Guard cutter Northwind after a 12-hour battle against gale winds and high seas in Northern British Columbia waters.

The vessel radioed for assistance last night after a line fouled in her propeller. Later the skipper of the craft, Haakon Selvar of Seattle, messaged it was able to proceed after partially disentangling the line.

However, the Northwind took the craft in tow this morning on rolling Queen Charlotte Sound and guided it to safety.

Soviet Not Seeking War Endicott Tells Audience

Russia and her satellites do not want war and are not preparing for war, Dr James O. Endicott of Toronto told a Victoria audience last night.

The former United Church missionary, now chairman of the Canadian Peace Congress, addressed an audience of about 260 in the Crystal Garden. The meeting was sponsored by the Victoria Peace Council.

There was no sign here of the violence that has marked Dr. Endicott's appearances in some other Canadian cities.

Dr Endicott, who resigned from the ministry under criticism for his pro-Communist stand on China, recently returned from a tour of Eastern European countries. He has been on a speaking tour of Canada with the Very Rev. Hewlett Johnson, the "Red Dean" of Canterbury.

DANGER GREAT

Admitting that "the danger of war is very great, and is increasing," Dr. Endicott said the Soviet Union is "not rearming, not preparing for war, and not trying to condition the minds of the people to the inevitability of war."

He said "peaceful reconstruction" is absorbing almost all the Soviet Union's industrial output.

"I believe that these 170 Russian divisions you hear so much about do not exist," he said. "I doubt that they could put 30 or 40 divisions into action."

He warned of the danger of revolution if "we force war on Europe."

HAD ENOUGH

"The people of Europe have had enough of war, and will most bitterly resent any kind of repetition of the World War. It will blow up into something very different," he said.

"American plans in Western Europe as they are now being carried out will backfire as they backfired in China and Formosa and now will backfire in Viet Nam."

Speaking of Russian reconstruction, Dr. Endicott said that "in Moscow miles of new steel-and-brick apartment buildings — things like the Royal York—have been built for the workers."

Of Russia's infamous "slave camps," he said, "I do not believe they exist. But if they do exist, I don't think war would make them any better or any less. I think it would greatly increase them."

DESCRIBES AIMS

Dr. Endicott described the purpose of the Canadian Peace Congress and the World Committee of Defenders of the Peace, with which the congress is affiliated.

He said the movement was dedicated to the proposition that the "peaceful co-existance of the two systems of free enterprise and planned economy is possible and desirable."

The movement, he said, does not exclude criticism of the U.S.S.R. "You can believe all the things certain sections of the press say about it, so long as you don't advocate that the solution is war."

He asked that members of the audience sign and circulate petitions "to arouse public opinion in every country to outlaw atomic weapons and aggressive war."

SEEKS LABEL

The petition also asks that all nations label as a war criminal "that government which first uses the atomic bomb."

He said it was hoped to have 600,000 Canadian names by October "to take to Rome where other countries will bring their contributions to show we have a mighty world peace movement, so there will be no more war."

The meeting was peaceful except for a moment during the question-and-answer period when a questioner told Dr. Endicott his arguments were "not convincing because they're all one-sided." The questioner was shouted down.

Fines of $10, Jail Term Given Drunks

A small parade passed through city police court Saturday morning —with all participants facing the magistrate on charges of being intoxicated in public places.

The procession included one white man and four Indians. All pleaded guilty.

The white man, who had been punished on two occasions for similar offences, said he had just returned from Oakalla and had just recently obtained a job. He was sentenced to 20 days.

Fines of $10 each, or three days in jail, were imposed on the four Indians—two of them women. A Chinese offender failed to appear and had his bail estreated.

Four Injured in Island Highway Smash Sunday

More than $1,000 damage was caused early Sunday morning in two-car crash on Island Highway near Six-Mile House. Four persons were injured. Car pictured above was driven by Lorne Allen Heath, Colwood. Other driver involved was Alexander T Murray, 990 Tolmie Avenue. Both drivers and their wives were taken to St. Joseph's Hospital for treatment for minor injuries. Entire left front end, including wheel, was sheared off Murray car.

More Trips Planned

Five Bus Route Changes To Be Made on June 4

The B C Electric Railway Co. will make changes in five of its bus routes effective Sunday, June 4.

In most cases the changes increase the number of trips, and reduce the number of transfers needed.

Biggest changes are the joining of the Lake Hill and Outer Wharf routes and the Gorge and Willows routes.

The only change in the Lake Hill and Outer Wharf routes will be the connections. The Lake Hill bus instead of turning at the bus depot will continue to the Outer Wharf.

A similar adjustment will be made in the Gorge and Willows routes. Periodical trips will be made to Obed Avenue and Helmcken Road, as before.

The Esquimalt route will now use the Johnson Street bridge, and operate between downtown Victoria and Esquimalt. Route will run from the Dockyard via Esquimalt Road to Johnson to Douglas and will loop in the city, going out the same way.

The Cook-Cedar Hill and Cook-Maplewood routes will be changed slightly in the downtown routing. The Gordon Head run has been rerouted, at popular request, via Shelbourne, Hillside and Douglas Streets.

Two Warnings Issued

Heavy Guns to Be Fired Seaward Near Victoria

The Department of National Defence yesterday issued two warnings of artillery practice in the Greater Victoria area.

Heavy anti-aircraft gunnery practice will be carried out from Albert Head today from 10 a.m. to noon and from 1:30 p.m. to 5 p.m.

On Friday the shooting will start at 3 p.m. and continue until 8 p.m. On Saturday it will be carried out from 10 a.m. until noon.

Practice will be carried out seaward in an arc between Great Race Rock on the right and Brotchie Ledge on the left. The danger radius will be 22,000 yards.

Coast artillery practice will be carried out from Albert Head from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Wednesday and at the same time on Thursday.

Practice will be conducted seaward in an arc between Great Race Rock on the right and Trial Island on the left. The danger radius will be 22,000 yards.

Fined $50, Licence Suspended On Dangerous Driving Charge

Dr Richard Henry Lyon, 822 Newport Avenue, was fined $50 and had his driver's licence suspended for three months by Magistrate H C. Hall in city police court yesterday when he pleaded guilty to a dangerous driving charge.

The charge was laid after an accident Sunday evening at the intersection of Gorge and Harriet Roads. The doctor was arrested after the accident and later released on bail.

Constable John Birch told the magistrate the accused was driving east on Gorge Road when he passed a Saanich policeman on the hill near the intersection of Harriet Road. The policeman, the constable continued, stated Dr. Lyon was driving at an excessive speed.

The car struck a telephone pole, carried on 180 feet, did a 180-degree turn and mounted the curb, Constable Birch testified. The Lyon car was also in collision with a car driven west by Harold E. Ellingworth of Edmonton, who is living at 1585 Rockland Avenue, according to the accident report. Damage to the Lyon car was about $300 and to the other car, $50 the report stated. Dr Lyon had been drinking, the constable told Magistrate Hall.

Dr. Lyon said he was not conscious his driving was erratic or dangerous. He added that he swerved suddenly when he saw a car approaching.

MEETING TOMORROW

The Victoria branch of the Kipling Society will hold its annual meeting tomorrow at 817 Cook Street at 8 p.m. Important business will be discussed at the meeting and all members are asked to attend.

Three Cabins Still in Need Of Sponsors

Officials of the Family Welfare and Children's Aid Society—sponsors of Sunshine Camp, Sooke—reported yesterday there were still three cabins at the campsite without sponsors.

Operated during the Summer months for the benefit of children who would otherwise not have an opportunity to spend a week at camp, members of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, and other groups in need of assistance, the camp is operated on a non-profit basis, and over past years has meant holiday pleasure for many Victorians.

Any person, organization or service club wishing to assist in the helpful program can do so through sponsorship of one of the camp's cabins. This entails painting and general cleaning of the cabin unit and the provision of certain furnishings.

The Victoria Lions Club is again sponsoring one of the cabins, and work on the unit will be handled by a work party of the service club on the afternoon of June 4.

Traffic Accidents Over Week-End Cause Heavy Damage; Four Injured

Week-end drivers piled up a staggering amount of damage in a wave of crackups which kept traffic officers constantly on the alert.

More than $1,000 damage was caused in a two-car smash at 2 a.m. Sunday near the Six-Mile House on the Island Highway. Four persons were injured, according to Constable Douglas Callin of the B C Police.

A car driven south by Alexander T. Murray, 990 Tolmie Avenue, was in collision at a bend in the highway with a car driven in the opposite direction by Lorne Allen Heath, Ocean Boulevard, Colwood. The Murray car, police estimated, suffered about $800 damage and the Heath vehicle about $200.

CONSTABLE PRESENT

Constable Callin was driving a police car behind the Murray car when the accident occurred.

Murray received head cuts and his wife facial injuries in the crash. Heath received head abrasions and Mrs. Heath a sprained ankle. All were taken to St. Joseph's Hospital.

Sunday evening at the intersection of Humboldt and Douglas Streets a two-car collision resulted in about $250 damage.

City police said a car driven south on Douglas Street by Ronald C. Young, 1665 Freeman Street, was in collision with a car driven west on Humboldt Street by Mrs. Gertrude Stark, 318 Vancouver Street. Damage to the Young car was about $200. No one was injured.

CAR OVERTURNED

A car driven by Svend Holger Bronke, 121 Menzies Street, was overturned and damaged to the extent of about $350 in an accident Sunday afternoon at the corner of Niagara and Government Streets according to city police.

A car driven south on Government Street by Otto S. Sunder, Omak, Washington, was in collision with the Bronke car. Damage to the visitor's car was $75.

Total damage of about $225 was caused in a crackup at Bay and Cook Streets Sunday night. Police said a car driven north on Cook Street by H. J. Decker, 2827 Graham Street, was in collision with a car driven in the opposite direction by George Lovegreen, 812 Chester Street. The Decker car received $175 damage.

An aggregate damage of about $350 damage resulted from an accident early Sunday night at Gorge and Harriet Roads. Drivers involved were Dr. Richard H Lyon, 822 Newport Avenue, and Harold E Ellingworth, of Edmonton. The Lyon car received $300 damage.

School Show Boosts Aid To Winnipeg

A varied and entertaining program was presented by students of Mount View High School at the school auditorium last night in aid of the Manitoba Flood Relief Fund.

The two-hour variety show brought the school's collection for the fund to almost $500.

The program was made up of special numbers which had been presented at school assembly programs during the year. Alec Burton was master-of-ceremonies.

Among the numbers on the program were 'cello solos by Margaret McGill, a Spanish dance by Verna Aspray; a Scottish dance by Lorraine Baird, with Mamie MacAllister accompanying on the pipes, and a bagpipe duet by Mary Fletcher and Dinah Kerr.

A comedy skit on the early silent movies entitled, "Wild Nell, Pet of the Plains," was one of the highlights of the show.

Two recitations by Joyce Neale and Margaret Grieve were also very much appreciated by the audience.

Mr J N Clarke, a former Winnipeg teacher now on the Mount View staff, brought the program to a close with two songs.

Warns Against

BEER PARLORS

For forty-two years I have been regularly coming to Victoria for business and pleasure purposes and have now come to make my home here, for this is the finest city I know in Canada or anywhere else. Its climate, natural beauty, and its friendly wholesome citizens make a strong appeal to me. Victoria, with its quiet dignity, is different from other cities. I believe the introduction of beer parlors would mar its charm, and I give some of my reasons for thinking so, in the hope that an emphatic "No" will be recorded by the voters today.

★

I remember the days of the saloons on Government Street in 1908, and in various other parts of this Province at that time. I also know the sights and atmosphere at the closing time of beer parlors in other places I have lived. So far as I can see, the beer parlor drunks of 1950 are the same kind of objectionable specimens as the saloon drunks of 1908, only now they are worse because of the girls and women amongst them. Also the general situation is more serious because there were few automobiles on our streets in 1908.

★

I remember the Pioneer Square district at Seattle in 1908, with its rough, tough saloons and frequent fights. Recently I was in Seattle and went as far south as San Diego. Things seem more orderly now and police control more effective than in the early days.

★

I am satisfied that total prohibition is not the answer to the tragic liquor problem, but going to the other extreme, by making liquor so easily available as is the general practice now in the United States, is not the answer either; as the use of alcoholic liquor as a beverage, with all its attendant evils, is greatly on the increase over there.

★

It has been my privilege to serve overseas as a Canadian soldier in three wars, so I know many countries as well as most of Canada and the United States. As I look back through the years I think of those among my front line wartime pals—splendid men who became human wrecks because liquor mastered them. Nowhere in the army, or in civilian life, have I seen anything which would bear out the claim of the liquor interests here that beer parlors would make Victoria a better place in which to live. Very few tourists come here to drink beer, and those who do can quite legally obtain it.

★

For those, and other reasons I could give, I urge all those who love Victoria, and want to keep it the orderly, beautiful place it now is, to turn out and vote "No" today, May 30th.

Nears Quarter Way

Manitoba Relief Fund Stands at $2,288,700

The national Manitoba Flood Relief Fund is near the quarter-way mark toward the $10,000,000 objective.

Officials at Winnipeg announced last night that collections of $113,900 Monday swelled the fund to $2,288,700. They announced that the Province of Quebec has formed a provincial unit of the fund.

Major British Columbia contributor yesterday was the B.C. Lumber Manufacturers' Association, Vancouver, who sent $25,000 to fund headquarters at Winnipeg.

FUND INCREASED

City Hall officials recorded $180.15 for the Victoria Mayor's Fund yesterday raising the sum total here to around the $19,000 figure. Complete fund figures to date are expected to be released by City Hall today.

Wek-end contributions of $407,000 were tallied up at fund headquarters in Winnipeg Monday. Manitoba contributions now total $675,801.62.

Added fund booster in Victoria will be the outdoor show to be sponsored by Victoria High School next Saturday night at 8 in Athletic Park. The outdoor show will have a dual purpose. First $100 raised will go to the flood fund and, following this, proceeds will be divided on a 50-50 basis for the fund and erection of tennis courts at the high school.

SATURDAY SHOW

The show will open with a four-mile race inside the park. During the race the Greater Victoria Schools' Band will supply music. Other displays include acrobatics by the Pro-Rec group, under Ed Kelter, the Victoria Girls' Drill Team and newly-organized Chinese Girls' Drill Team.

A baseball game under lights between the Old-Timers and Victoria High School will end the show.

Salvation Army Appeals For Drive Canvassers

An appeal for additional canvassers to help in house-to-house collections in residential areas has been made by the fund committee of the Salvation Army 1950 Red Shield Campaign. The campaign started yesterday.

"We will have about 200 canvassers out within the next few days but more are needed," said W. R. McIntyre, general chairman of the drive.

Volunteers are asked to telephone Mrs. Isabel Ross, at Garden 9357, for information about canvassing for the month-long drive which started yesterday.

The Salvation Army is sending assistance to Manitoba flood relief and part of the 1950 fund is earmarked for flood assistance.

CORK SUBSTITUTE

CANBERRA (CP)—Australia may soon be able to make its own cork from the bark of the paper tea tree and save $1,000,000 a year spent on imported cork. European cork trees at Canberra, planted years ago, have done reasonably well but have never been stripped.

George W. Parsons Will Serve As Victoria Gideons' President

The Victoria Gideons last week elected George W. Parsons as president of their association for the ensuing year.

Harry Penman was chosen as vice-president. Harold W. Allen will serve as secretary and Everatt Brown will be treasurer. Duncan Burden will serve as chaplain. M. D. Hunter was elected honorary president.

Gideons are an association of Christian businessmen who are members of all churches and therefore are welcomed on an inter-denominational basis by hotels, hospitals, prisons, schools and military establishments.

To date a total of approximately 19,000,000 copies of the Bible have been placed by the Gideons throughout the world. Foreign placements have been made in such places as Jerusalem, Ethiopia and China.

TESTAMENTS FOR SCHOOLS

British Columbia Gideons last year presented to Grade Five students 7,000 copies of the new testament with Proverbs and Psalms. More than 1,000 copies were placed in hotels and auto courts and every bed in the Royal Jubilee Hospital has been supplied with a Gideon Bible. The Canadian Pacific Steamships have recently been partly supplied with copies and it is expected more will be placed on these ships soon.

In seeking support in their work the Gideons ask donors to get in touch with the secretary, Mr. Allen, at 3200 Midland Road. A contribution of $10 will place 30 testaments in schools or seven Bibles in hotels.

Blood Flown To Winnipeg

The R.C.A.F. is flying a plane-load of blood to Winnipeg once a week from Vancouver, officials of the Victoria Branch of Red Cross announced here yesterday.

The service will be continued until such time as Red Cross units in Winnipeg can resume operation.

Meanwhile, the blood supply in Victoria is low and emergency donors have been called.

In an attempt to remedy the situation, Red Cross officials said, a blood clinic will be held at Red Cross House on June 7 and 8.

Independent Conciliation Begins Here For 2,400 Vancouver Island Loggers

A union brief calling for a general wage increase of 17 cents an hour and union shop was presented last night before a three-man conciliation board which began sittings here yesterday to consider matters in dispute between the International Woodworkers of America (C.I.O.-C.C.L.) and Blodel, Stewart & Welch Ltd.

The firm is negotiating this year independently of the other British Columbia logging operators, most of whom bargain through Forest Industrial Relations, Vancouver.

I.W.A. demands before the board here are practically identical with those presented earlier by the union before a Vancouver conciliation board, which last week recommended nine and five and a half-cent wage increases and maintenance of membership for most of British Columbia's lumber workers.

Rejection of the report has been recommended by the I.W.A. policy committee.

AFFECTS 2,400

Affected by the local conciliation proceedings are approximately 2,400 Island employees of the logging company.

Board comprises Philip Fleming, Victoria, chairman, George Home, Vancouver, secretary of the B.C. Federation of Labor (C.C.L.), union nominee, Walkem Knox K.C., Vancouver, operators' nominee.

Chief union spokesman is Virgil Burtz, I.W.A. research director, management, Walter Owens, K.C., Vancouver barrister.

Also representing the I.W.A. at the hearings here are district union president J. S. Alsbury, Vancouver, R. J. Whittle, business agent, Victoria Local 1-118, and Walter Allen, president, Port Alberni local.

I.W.A. Joins Executive In Turning Down Offer

Approximately 16,000 coastal members of the International Woodworkers of America (C.I.O.-C.C.L.), queried over the week-end as to whether they wished to accept last week's unanimous conciliation report recommending nine and 5½-cent increases, were reported yesterday by union officials to have followed the I.W.A. policy committee's recommendation to reject the offer.

The conciliation report was rejected unanimously, a local I.W.A. spokesman said, at a meeting Sunday night of about 400 of the union's Victoria membership of more than 1,000.

The report was also turned down by Vancouver and New Westminster locals, which have a combined membership of more than 10,000, at separate week-end meetings, as well as by Port Alberni and Mission locals.

RESULTS EXPECTED

Result of the vote being conducted among the union's entire membership is expected to be known June 5.

The union has threatened that if there is no satisfactory work agreement reached by June 15, it will strike.

The rejected conciliation report also provides for maintenance of membership and a 48-hour work week for loggers from April to October, Monday to Saturday, with overtime after 40 hours.

Original union demands included a 17-cent increase and union shop.

The maintenance of membership proposal has been criticized by I.W.A. heads as an "unsatisfactory form of union security," and the proposed wage increase as "discriminatory and inadequate."

Auto Workers Vote To Strike June 5

WINDSOR, Ont., May 29 (CP).—Members of Local 195, United Automobile Workers (C.I.O.) voted today to go on strike June 5 "or sooner" at the Chrysler Corporation of Canada plants here if the company fails to meet the union's pension and contract demands.

Island Men Quit Jobs

MESACHIE LAKE, May 29—Nearly 300 I.W.A. members employed in the Hillcrest Lumber Co. Ltd., sawmill here walked off work at 10 a.m. today in protest against the company hiring two men who did not belong to the union. They requested the company to compel the men to join, which was refused. Officials anticipated union members would return to work Tuesday morning.

Two Yacht Clubs Start Busy Season of Sailing

Members of the Capital City and Maple Bay Yacht Clubs are all set for a busy Summer of sailing and boating with the forthcoming season promising to be one of the most successful experienced by the two groups.

Their sailing season got under way over the week-end, with 26 vessels taking part in a colorful and memorable "parade past" ceremony in Maple Bay Saturday afternoon.

The vessels assembled near Separation Point, near Cowichan Bay, and proceeded in single file to and through Sansum Narrows and then into Maple Bay. Leading the procession was Commodore J. M. Porter's trim yacht Awaywego, which took a position in the bay while the remainder of the fleet passed at intervals of about 100 yards, dipping stern ensigns in salute to the Commodore as they passed his craft.

Later, at Maple Bay, the yachtsmen and their many friends enjoyed a cocktail party, dinner and dance. Many members of the Royal Victoria Yacht Club participated in the evening program. They reached the scene by car.

Sunday morning the boats departed from Maple Bay and commenced individual cruises of their own, returning to their home bases that evening.

Northern Lights Viewed Up-Island

One of nature's phenomena, the aurora borealis or northern lights, was visible to Up-Island residents last Saturday evening between 10 and 10:30.

The long streaks over the northern skies made an interesting sight for many watchers.

The aurora became visible as dusk was starting, long silver streaks began to take shape in the Northeast and gradually moved to the North before disappearing.
